THE TRADE PROPOSED

BY WHICH REPUBLICANS HOPE TO WIN ALLIANCE VOTES.

SOUNDING OF THE DANGER SIGNAL. Holland Announces a Scheme of Coalition Congressman John Allen Has Words of Wisdom as to the Future.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—[Special.]—A licker between the Farmers' Alliance, the Knights of Labor and the republican party.

This is the latest scheme on foot here.
That such a dicker is being attempted by republicans here there is no doubt. It is the hope of the republican leaders to make such a trade with the alliance in order that that preparation will cut loose from the demopratic party, and thereby, to a large extent, nefit the republicans in the next congres-

The scheme, as it is being privately dispussed here now by leading republicans of the house and senate and high officers in the alliance and knights of labor federation, is for the republican party to assume a similar attitude towards the alliance that they did in the Cate-Featherstone contested election case from Arkansas. Featherstone, who was the alli-Ince candidate and who was defeated, was seated by the republicans, and he is now vot-ing with them and has a seat on the republican side, although he claims to be strictly an independent-only voting for the right and the good of the alliance.

THE REPUBLICANS ENJOYING THE FUN The republicans have been enjoying the fun which is going on all over the south and west how, and are laughing over the trouble and worry the alliance seems to be giving southern democratic representatives.

They have proposed to certain officers of the alliance and Knight of Labor combination to aid them in the election of congressmen from the southern and western states and to furpish them money for the purpose, if necessary. They also promise to aid in the passage of leg-Islation that will benefit the farmer. Howover, they will not commit themselves to the sub-treasury or any of the plans now pending n congress for the government to lend money to the farmer on real estate or non-perishable Irops.

This scheme has already taken root to a certain extent with some high alliancemen and Knights of Labor, and the republicans hope to quietly consumate it. Mc Kinley and others have had a half dozen conferences with high officers of the federation recently and the matter has been freely discussed. The republicans apparently ask nothing in return. It is only the Iriendship (?) of the party for the farmer and laborer. Still it can be but evident to everyone that the scheme is gotten up simply to weaken the democratic party and to carry all close districts in the south and west with men who will vote with the republicans when they

THE FARMERS SHOULD UNDERSTAND IT. the country. It is simply another scheme to split up the democratic party, and it is under-stood that some very high alliancemen will be parties to it.

As an evidence that such a dicker is being sought to be consumated, John J. Holland, of Florida, one of the legislative committee of the federation of alliancemen and Knights of Labor, was recently interviewed as to the ob-

Labor, was recently interviewed as to the objects and purposes of the organziation, in which he said:

"In the main the two orders expect to work with the southern republicans, and they calculate that the aid of republicans, white and black, will make the move effective; that it was found impossible to secure representation in congress without a general movement conducted in the semicircle manner that is now being proposed, and that the Farmers' Alliance will see that the votes of whites and blacks are counted."

CONGRESSMAN ALLEN'S STATEMENT. In speaking of the movement and Holland's statement today, Congressman Allen, of Mississippi, said:

"Mr. Holland certainly misrepresents the Farmers' Alliance a majority of the south. Farmers' Alliance a majority of the south. They have no such aims and purposes as he attributes to them. However, I do not believe that they have had anything like justice in national legislation. They have been persistently plundered in the interest of classes who did not need or deserve it, and federal legislation has contributed largely to this result.

legislation has contributed largely to this result.

"I am satisfied that Mr. Holland is furthering one of the most dangerous schemes of the topublican party. It is now apparent to that party that unless they can control southern elections, either by the machinery of federal election laws or by divisions among our southern white people, they will be overwhelmingly defeated this fall. Their programme is to encourage an alliance between southern republicans and the Farmers' Alliance in the hope of disrupting the democratic party in the Bouth. It will only be tried in the south, for they think their politicians can go among the alliances of the north and west and, by waving the bloody shirt and arousing prejudice against the southern people, they can hold them in the republican party, and thus retain their control of the house of representatives.

"The unseating of Judge Cate, of Arkansas, who was elected, and the seating of Featherstone, who was not elected, was the inauguration of the scheme. They would never have committed so great an outrage for just one vote. It was to encourage the farmers' wheel, or alliance, in its opposition to the democratic party, see how it works, and let the farmer take warning.

'Now that Featherstone is seated, there is an omore subservient member of the republican party in the house than he. This programme is the main reliance of the republicans to retain power, and they will use their ill-gotten money and patronage to accomplish it. There may be individuals among our farmers' organizations who for the sake of office would attempt to lead them into this unholy alliance, but they can't do it. Our agricultural people are too intelligent and patriotic to be caught with any such tricks. They know the republican party is the source of most of the ills from which they now suffer. They know that the vicious legislation that has made present conditions possible is due to that party. That it it is the representative of the classes in their war on the masses. They know also that the democratic party is the only organization equipped to make this contest in their interest. Take the tariff debate two years ago. It is interesting to read it now. The democrats insisted the farmers were being oppressed under our present system of taxation, and the republicans from the first speech to the last in that debate insisted that the farmers were prosperous and were getting rich by reason of the tariff laws. See how their statements are verified in the present depressed conditions of agriculture. The farmers are not fools. They have had too much experience with the republican party to go to them for help. I do not say that all democrats are in sympathy with the farmers, as they ought to be, but they have the power to see that their votes shall only elect such democrats as are in accord with

THE MISSISSIPPI FARMERS ADVISED. "Our Mississippi farmers know that there is an element in their midst that is a constant menace to their very civilization, if not their existence, and that their only safety is in the perfect unity of our white people, which makes the duty of remaining united in the face of this danger paramount to all others. Our farmers' organizations are not always practical in their demands. They do not always consider the difficulties in the way of what they would like to have done in legislation, but I have always found them ready and willing to listen to reason. My own opinion is that what they most need in the way of legislation is relief from the burdens of unjust and oppressive taxation, more money in circulation with which their products can be purchased and moved, cheaper money with which to pay their debts, and the enactment of such as will prevent trusts and monopolies from robbing them. I would also warn them against too many entangling alliances with antagonistic interests."

THE PUBLIC BUILDING BILLS. Chairman Milliken, of the house committee on public buildings, said today that the public building pork barrel would be opened up again for two days next week. There are two Georgia bills on the house calendar for public build ings at Columbus and Americus, which will be called up and passed if the congressmen repre-senting these districts are not on Speaker Reed's blind side, which is very apt to be the case. Reed has certain political debts to pay on the republican side, and he pays them by recognizing them on festival occasions like these. The Brunswick bill has already passed the house, and will go through the senate on next Saturday, when Senator Colquitt has assurances that he will be recognized to place it mon its passage. upon its passage.
HOAR WILL TRY HIS HAND.

Senator Hoar has given it out that he will, next week, report from the senate committee on elections, a federal election law bill, which the senate will pass. It is going to be a combination bill, containing what he considers to bination bill, containing what he considers to be the best features of all the bills that have been introduced on this subject. It will, however, provide for federal supervisors and federal control of the entire election machinery of the state. It seems to be settled that the republicans, now that they are in power in every branch of the government, are going to enact such a federal election law as they believe will keep them in power. It will, of course, be drawn with the idea that it only shall apply in the south, although, like the Lodge bill, on its face, it will appear to apply to the entire country.

FRAUDULENT WITNESS FEES.

Representatives Oats, Thompson and McCor-mick have been appointed a committee from the house to go to Alabama and Mississippi to inquire into the alleged fraudulency in the federal courts by which witnesses are obtainfederal courts by which witnesses are obtaining fraudulent fees. Throughout three or four southern states, it is understood, the government has been systematically robbed for a long time by professional witnesses, who are in league with the court officials. The committee first goes to Mobile, then Montgomery, and from thence to Jackson, Miss.

SHORT NOTES.
C. C. Robinson and wife, of Social Circle. are here.

J. B. Howell was today appointed post-master at McPherson, Paulding county.

THE SOUTHERN CLAIMANTS. The house spent all of today in discussing an omnibus southern war claims bill. It is to pay nearly three hundred claimants for stores and supplies furnished the union army during the war. All the claimants assert they were loyal to the union cause, but the northern republicans of the house doubted this and made such a strong fight against the bill that it was laid aside fo fight against the bill that it was laid aside for the present. The southern republicans and democrats made a hard fight for the passage of the bill, and there were some very interesting tilts between northern and southern republicans Mr. Houk, of Tennessee, scored his own party some rough blows. He accused them of being willing to resort to all kinds of extravagances in pensions for northern soldiers, but when it come to anything, however small, for the in pensions for northern soldiers, but when it come to anything, however small, for the south, they objected. Mr. Houk was strongly backed by all the southern republicans.

Here are the Georgia claimants, and the amounts due them, in the bill: Levi W. Brooks, Walker county, $1,362; W. R. Harper, Chattooga county, $1,161; Floyd S. Hudgins, Chattooga county, $1,413; Luther Walters, Floyd county, $771. PUBLIC BUILDINGS EVERYWHERE.

The postoffice committee of the house today reported a bill providing for a public building in every town in the United States in which the posoffice receipts exceed $3,000 annually and it is estimated that all the buildings will cost $30,000,000. However, only $2,000,000 of this amount is to be expended annually in such towns on the list as the postmaster general shall select. If the bill passes, however, they will be taken in the order of the amount of receipts in each state, and will be constructed as rapidly as possible. Where the gross receipts of an office are $25,000 the building shall not cost more than $20,000, and where the receipts do an office are $25,000 the building shall not cost more than $20,000, and where the receipts do do not exceed $20,000 the building shall not cost more than $15,000. In Georgia the following cities will get buildings—of course those that already have them will not get others: Albany, Americus, Athens, Atlanta, Augusta, Bainbridge, Brunswick, Cartersville, Columbus, Dalton, Gainesville, Griffin, Hawkinsville, LaGrange, Macon, Marietta, Milledgeville, Newnan, Rome, Savannah, Talapoosa, Thomasville, Valdosta and Waycross.

In Alabama, Anniston, Bessemer, Birmingham, Decatur, Eufaula, Florence, Gadsden, Greenville, Huntsville, Mobile, Montgomery, Opelika, Selma, Talladega, Troy, Tuscaloosa. In South Carolina, Aiken, Anderson, Beaufort, Charleston, Chester, Columbia, Greenville, Nowberry, Orangsburg, Spartansburg and Sumpter.

THE SILVER COMMITTEE. Holds a Meeting at Which Secretary Win-

dom Expresses His Views.

Washington, April 18.—The republican silver committee held a meeting this morning at which Secretary Windom was present and expressed his views. He said the reason for his advocating the redemption in bullion of the certificates issued for the purchase of bullion was that it would make the purchase of buillion was that it would make the certificates more valuable; and to require their redemption in silver dollars would be, in his opinion to discredit them; while to require their redemption in gold coin mightjseriously embarrass the government. He was willing, however, as a measure of compromise, to give the holders of the certificates the option on the currency in which it should be redeemed. After the secretary had given his views upon the bill and the basis for them, a discussion rather desultory in its nature took place upon the subject of sufficiency of circulation.

THE STRIKING SWITCHMEN.

The Street Railway Employes Tender Their Support.

Pirtsburg, April 18.—Something definite is looked for in the threatened strike of the railway switchmen today. John Downey, chief of the Federation of Railroad employes, arrived from Chicago this morning, and is now holding a conference with the men. He has refused to act, and after he has seen the men and the officials he will announce his decision. A new feature of the situation is the probability of a strike of the street railway employes at the same time. They have tendered their support to the switchmen, and are considering the advisability of making a simultaneous demand for higher wages.

The Proposed Irish Convention.

The Proposed Irish Convention.

St. Louis, April 18.—The executive committee of the Irish land league, not having heard from Parnell in regard to the advisability of holding a national convention, concluded to close up its business and adjourn, which they did at noon today. Mr. Parnell will be written to, and the convention scheme strongly urged upon him. If he consents to it, the convention will be held at Baltimore sometime next autumn.

St. Petersburg, April 18.—A sensation has been caused here by the announcement that the person who attempted to obtain the plans of a Russian fortress acted under orders from Baron Plessen, an attache of the German embasay here. The latter has, it is said, suddenly decamped.

JEFFERIES'S CRIME.

HOW THE STORY FOUND ITS WAY

WATCHING A DYING MAN'S WORDS.

Reopened-The Revelations Made by Old Citizens-The Crime.

Spartaneuro, S. C., April 18.—[Special.]—
The arrest of Samuel Jefferies, for the murder of Alexander Sparks, nearly twenty-six years ago, is the sensation of the hour. Old people are now constantly relating stories about the murder as it was told to them, and young people are on the alert inquiring for new particulars concerning it. lars concerning it.
Samuel Jefferies and his record is now undergoing new revelations, and there is no telling where the stories will end. It has come to light that an attempt to forever silence the man who knew about the killing of Dr. White, led to the unearthing of the whole business. It happened in this way: THE TWO ACCOMPLICES.

When Dr. White was murdered it was the general opinion that Jefferies and two men did the villainous deed. One was named Medin and the other was Adames McCollough. Shortly after the murder of White, when public sentiment was very excited, Mc-Collough left the state and went to Texas, where, until some ten years ago, he died. fore he died he made a confession which has been kept under seal and altogether secret. It has recently come to light by a mistake made by Jefferies, and which promises to make it very calamitous for the murderer of White. Until yesterday he had no knowledge of the existence of McCollough's confession. If he had known of it Jefferies would now be a free man, for the reason that he thought that all parties who knew of the details of the murder

AT MEDLIN'S BEDSIDE.

Some years ago Medlin sickened and died.

For over a month before he came to die, Jefferies was a constant watcher at his bedside, guarding his every word and careful that he gave no token and word that would tell the story of the murder. When Medlin died his wife said that she knew all about the murder and Jef-feries secretly bribed her never to divulge the tale her husband had told her, but unfaithful to the condition of the bribe, she told her son, Sam Medlin. This was soon made known to Jefferies, and what was to be done with the son of his accomplice was the question much mooted by Jefferies.

TRYING TO TRAP THE SON.

mooted by Jefferies.

TRYING TO TRAP THE SON.

A year ago a house belonging to a daughter of Jefferies was burned at night. It was the act of an incendiary, and Sam Medlin was accased by Jefferies with the crime. The plot was evidently to convict Medlin, and then he would be executed, arson being a capital offense in this state. At the last term of criminal court in Union, Medlin was tried for arson and acquitted. Everything was done to convict him. Money was freely employed in securing witnesses to swear against him, but an alibi was proven. The earnest interest manifested by Jefferies in the case was talked about in the trial and on the streets. Then Medlin told his lawyer, Colonel McKissick, that he would tell how it was that Sam Jefferies murdered old man White. Another lawyer had been employed some time before to work up the case of the White murder, and this information was welcome. Medlin and others have since then heen hunting up all the evidence possible to convict Jefferies of this murder. None have been more faithful nor more diligent in the search than young White, son of the murdered man.

THE EVIDENCE CONCLUSIVE.

The confession of McCollough and old man Medlin are both in hand and it will go hard with their accomplice and chief.

"Samuel Jefferes is the murderer of my poor husband. I pray God that he may yet be punished for this cowardly deed," were the words of the griot-stricken widow as the body of Dr. White was laid away to rest in the old country grave yard. These prayerful prophetic words seem to have been an unrelenting curse upon the head of the murderer. They have been the watch-word of the murderer's nemesis, who has been found always in the person of the son who, for twenty-six years, has cherished the remembrance of his father's person of the son who, for twenty-six years, has cherished the remembrance of his father's cowardly taking off, and who registered then a vow that it should be avenged. That son has been faithful and untring in his work to discover the murderer of his father. Through poverty and dire need he has done all that mortal man could do to find him out, and now his faithfulness is about to be rewarded. In many ways Samuel Jefferies is a striking prototype of the ideal personification of Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde. Of most uncouth appearance at times, with character as changeable as the weather, respected by some and despised by the majority, and without principles, this is Samuel Jefferies.

"I would not believe Sam Jefferies on his oath," said a prominent man today, "and I will bet big money that he will be convicted of the killing of poor Dr. White."

This is the opinion of a great many and indicates how his character is considered here.

Another man has heen implicated with ANOTHER ACCOMPLICE. Another man has been implicated with Jefferies in the murder of Dr. White. His name is Columbus Roberts, and he is at present on his farm in North Carolina. It is thought that he will turn state's evidence in the case, and if this be true, it will go very hard with Jefferies. It is an interesting case all the way through, and new developments hard with Jefferies. It is an interesting case all the way through, and new developments are being made all the time. Men of equal wealth and prominence have been implicated in this case, and it is now rumored that a wealthy farmer and politician in Union county will be arrested as an accomplice tomorrow. Jefferies counts his money by the thousand, and many are of belief that he will give bond and then skip. At present there seems to be no likelihood of his immediate recovery from his sickness, although he says that he will go to Union tomorrow, where he will be locked up in the county jail.

mother, a widow lady.

Nearly two years ago Richardson was firing on a Louisville and Nashville engine, when it exploded near Franklin, Ky., throwing the young man about fifty yards and injuring him about the head and breast and burning him severely.

Richardson sued the railroad company for damages, and the case was compromised by the company paying him $2,000, the most of which, it is claimed, he has since paid out for medical bills in his efforts to be cured of a continual pain in his heart.

THEIR LABORS ENDED.

THE PAN-AMERICAN CONFERENCE

MR. BLAINE AS A PEACEMAKER.

He Comes Into the Meeting When a Row Was Imminent, Has a Talk With the Delegates, and Everything Is Happy.

WASHINGTON, April 18 .- In the Pan-American conference, today, the report of the com-mittees on general welfare, recommending the nations of Europe to adopt a policy of arbitration, was taken up. Involved in the question is the controversy now existing between England and Venezuela, over the possession of gold lands in Guiana and the navigation of Orinoco river. As the discussion progressed, differences were developed, which bid fair to block the way to a conclusion, unless much time should be consumed, and unless some oncessions should be made.

Mr. Blaine, who had been absent at a cabinet meeting, came into the conference room late in the afternoon when the controversy seemed far from a conclusion. He asked a recess and then invited the committee on general welfare to join him in considering the matter. A recess was had, and Mr. Blaine and the com mittee retired.

They were gone scarcely half an hour. Upon returning Mr. Blaine asked Vice-President returning Mr. Blaine asked Vice-President Zegarig to preside, and then from the latter's place at the long table Mr. Blaine said:

Mr. President: I am very happy to announce that any vital difference upon any question connected with the scheme of arbitration, which two bours ago might have been feared, is, I hope, entirely removed, and the resolutions of the honorable gentleman, Mr. Quintana, have been simply changed from being in perpetuity to run at even dates with the treaty of arbitration. So they stand and fall together. They are born together, and if they die they will die together; but we shall hope both their lives will be perpetual. (Applause.)

MR. BLAINE'S SUBSTITUTES. Upon Mr. Blaine's motion these clauses were substituted for those originally reported from the committee, with acclamation and cheers, save from Chili, which did not vote. The vital business of consequence was thus

Dr. Martinez Silva, of Columbia, had, however, a proposition to present. Its provisions are that a Latin-American library shall be founded in the city of Washington with contributions from the nations represented; that it shall be known as Columbus library; that in it shall be placed the histories of all nations represented in this congress, also their geographies, maps and official documents; that the library shall be located by the United States in Washington, and that it shall be dedicated upon the anniversary of the centennial of the discovery of America by Columbus.

discovery of America by Columbus.

A NEW REPORT ADOPTED.

Before the supplementary report of the committee on general welfare, which led to the discussion referred to above, was taken up, the conference had adopted another supplementary report from the same committee, expressing the wish that all controversics between the republics of America and the nations of Europe may be settled by arbitration.

The report of the committee on international law was also submitted and adopted.

The majority recommends the adoption of the tollowing as the principles of American international law:

1. Foreigners are entitled to enjoy all the civil fistional law:

1. Foreigners are entitled to enjoy all the civil rights enjoyed by natives and they shall be accorded all the benefits of said rights in all that is essential as well as in the form of procedure, and legal remedies incident thereto, absolutely in a like manner as said natives.

2. A nation has not, nor recognizes in favor of foreigners, any other obligations, or responsibilities than those which, in favor of natives, are established, in like cases, by the constitution and laws.

tablished, in like cases, by the constitution and laws.

3. Rivers which separate the several states, or which bathe their territory, shall be opened to the free navigation of the merchant marine or ships of war of riparian nations.

4. This declaration shall not affect the jurisdiction nor sovereignty of any riparian nation, either in time of peace or war.

On the question of the adoption of this report, the United States and Nicaragua voted no.

Mr. Blaine then read in English and a Gautemala delegate read in Spanish, the following:

1. That the principle of conquest shall not, during the continuance of the treaty of arbitration, be recognized as admissable under the American public law.
2. That all sessions of territory made during the continuance of the treaty of arbitration shall be void if made under threats of war or presence of an armed force.
3. Any nation from which such cession shall be exacted may demand that the validity of the cessions shall be submitted to arbitration.
4. Any renunciation of the right to arbitration made under the conditions named in the second section, shall be null and void.
Those conditions are under threats of war or the presence of an armed force.

THE BATTLE IN BLACK MOUNTAINS. Thirty Outlaws, Fortified in an Old Barn, Fire Upon Soldiers.

LOUISVILLE, April 18.—A special to the Times from Harlan Courthouse says: A decided fight oc-curred this morning at 1:20 o'clock, seventeen curred this morning at 1:20 o'clock, seventeen miles east of here, in Black mountain, between a detail of state troops, consisting of sixteen privates, Lieutenant Milton and Sergeant Pullian and about thirty outlaws, who were fortified in an old barn. Five of the soldiers were wounded. It is not known how many outlaws were killed, as they still have possession of the barn. A corporal was sent to Harlan for reinforcements and he brings this news. Sharp fighting is expected. The outlaws are well armed, well entrenched and determined. Some of them are under indictment. The militia have their blood up because of their losses and are threatening vengeance.

THE BUSINESS REVIEW.

Legislation.

New York, April 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The season of extraordinary speculation has set in, and, while helped by some considerations affecting the supply or demand for products, such as injury to wheat, it is mainly the result of the proposed silver legislation, which is expected to expand monetary circulation enormously, and to lift prices at once.

Grain, pork products, cotton, oil and sugar have advanced, the latter in spite of the proposal to remove the entire duty, and spruce lumber also in spite of the rapidly increasing interruption of building by eight hour strikes. The genera average of prices for commodities has advanced eight-tenths of one per cent in a week and one seven-tonth per cent in three weeks.

Stocks have also been stronger and reports of trade which are influenced, rather by the prices at which goods are sold, than by the volume of business transacted, are uniformly more cheerful. At the same time there is continued evidence of an actual increase over last year in the volume of business transacted. There is not a corresponding improvement in the industrial condition and wool has been firmer at Boston, without change in price, and very dull and inactive at New York and Philadelphia. In the goods market no improvement is seen, and expectations based on proposed changes of the tariff are partly neutralized this week by a decision against the government in the worsted cases. The cotton manufacture does not thrive better for the advance in material, with goods unchanged in price and print. Cloths only three three-tenth cents for 64s.

The boot and shoe industry is clearly thriving, and leather and hides are both a shade firmer and in more active demand. Unless labor troubles end more speedily than is generally expected, the demand for lumber, brick and all other building materials will be restricted.

The boot and shoe industry is clearly thriving, and leather and hides are both a shade firmer and in more active demand. Unless labor troubles end more speedily than is and general improvement in collections deserve notice when congress is contemplating larger monetary supplies.

Here the rate on call has declined from four and a half to four per cent; foreign exchange from $4.87% to $4.87%. The treasury has, nevertheless, taken in $3,100,000 in excess of disbursements, just the sum that it put out the previous week.

The exports of products in Michigan appear to have increased fully 5 per cent over last year and probably exceeded imports by $5,000,000, but thus far in April the exports have fallen about 10 per cent below last year's at New York, while imports show an increase of 12% per cent. It is probable, however, that some foreign buying of Securities has occurred of late.

Itusiness failures occurring throughout the country during the past week, number for United States, 181; Canada, 33; total 214, against 200 last week.

THE WORLD'S FAIR BILL.

The Senate Will Not Take It Up Until Monday.

Washington, April 18.—In the senate, Mr.

Platt (by request) introduced a bill for the admission of New Mexico, and said that he did not, in doing so, intend to commit himself in one way or the other. Referred.

Mr. Dolph moved to proceed to executive business.

Mr. Hawley—I have given notice two or three times that I would call up the bill concerning the international exposition. I am bound to press it, because it is simply justice to the people of Chicago, who are awaiting anxiously to begin work; and not only justice to them, but to manufacturers and others who may contemplate exhibiting there, foreigners as well as Americans. I am inturers and others who may contemplate exhibiting there, foreigners as well as Americans. I am instructed by the committee and am under constant pressure to call it up. I have applied privately to the senator from Kansas, Mr. Plumb, and I do so now to allow his bill to lie over until the senate can consider this exhibition bill.

Mr. Dolph—That bill would undoubtedly occupy all the afternoon. If there be unanimous consent that it shall be voted on at 2 o'clock, I will yield, but I cannot postpone longer than that hour a motion for an executive session.

Mr. Hawley—I am very sure that no executive business will suffer between now and 4 o'clock.

Mr. Cullom addressed the chair.

Vice-president—Does the chair understand that the senator from Oregon has withdrawn his motion?

DOLPH INSISTS ON HIS MOTION.

Mr. Dolph—I have not withdrawn it.

Vice-president—The motion is not debatable.

Mr. Cullom—Allow me to appeal to the senator from Oregon to withdraw his motion for one moment.

A republican senator—Vote it down. Mr. Dolph I am willing to yield for a state-

Mr. Cullom—I simply desire to state, that so far as I am able to learn, there will be no long discussion, if any at all, on the bill relating to the worlds' fair.

"Yes, there will be a good deal of it," said Mr, Blackburn.

worlds' fair.

"Yee, there will be a good deal of it," said Mr, Blackburn.

"Whether there will or not," Mr. Cullom continued, "it will certainly not take a long time, and I think that every senator realizes that if there is to be a world's fair held in 1892 or 1893, the recessary legislation ought to be enacted as soon as possible. I hope that the senator from Oregon will allow the senator from Connecticut to bring the bill up for consideration."

Mr. Dolph—Indications from the other side are that the bill would occupy the whole afternoon. I must, therefore, insist on my motion.

A vote was taken on Mr. Dolph's motion and it was agreed to. Yeas 32, nays 25, all the negative votes coming from the republicans. The galleries were then cleared and the doors closed at 1 o'clock. The doors were reopened at 2:50 and legislative business was resumed. The calendar was taken up and several bridge bills and public buildings bills passed.

On motion of Mr. Hawley the senate took up and agreed to consider, immediately after the morning business on Monday next, the world's fair bill.

WAR CLAIMS.

WAR CLAIMS. The Payment of Court Claims Before the Washington, April 18.—The house went-into committee of the whole on the private calendar. The first bill on the calender was the bill making appropriations for the payment of awards of court claims to war claimants.

Mr. Thomas, of Illinois, offered a resolution that the bill be reported back to the house with the recommendation that it be recommitted with instructions to the committee on war claims to inquire into the loyalty of each claim. Mr. Thomas stated that the bill contained 285 claims, based on pretended privileges of the court of claims. Of this number there were eight cases where there had been no findings transmitted to congress. In 176 cases the usual method of ascertalning the loyalty of the parties had not been followed. The committee on war claims had bunched these 285 clams together without any examination or investigation. The secretary of war had transmitted to the committee, since the report of the bill, a statment showing that in eighty-four cases the claimant had filed vouchers for supplies furnished to the confederate army or subscribed to the confederate loan or done some other thing indicating disloyalty.

Mr. McComas proposed the pesperament of the bill for two weeks, in order to give an opportnity for private investigation, the bill to be then called up for final action.

Mr. Hockdale, of Mississippi, argued that the fact that the man had signed the voucher for

Mr. Hockdale, of Mississippi, argued that the fact that the man had signed the voucher for furnishing supplies to the confederate army was no proof of his disloyalty. If he had not signed the voucher his property would have been taken from him anyway and he would have received no pay for it.

Mr. Houk spoke for the loyal men of the south, declaring that had it not been for the union men of that section, the confederacy would have succeeded.

of that section, the confederacy would have succeeded.

Mr. McComas then made the proposition that the bill be recommitted for investigation, with instructions to the committee on war claims to report it back within two weeks, the bill to retain its place on the calendar.

Later on Mr. McComas put his proposition to recommit the bill with instructions into the form of a resolution, and it was agreed to. The resolution was reported to the house.

Mr. Grosvenor raised the point of order against the resolution and the speaker ruled the resolution out of order. The bill, therefore, went back on the calendar. The house, at 5 o'clock, took a recess until 8, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

Accident Near Jug Tavern—The Injured Men Carried to Augusta and Taken Home on Litters.

Augusta, Ga., April 18 .- The pay train on the Gainesville, Jefferson and Southern railroad, containing Superintendent Hemphill, Roadmaster Robinson, Treasurer Richards, Supervisor Bell, Engineer Stulb, of the Georgia railroad; and General Manager Wilkins, of the narrow gauge; and Route Agent Hurlbert, of the Southern Express company. was overturned this afternoon near Jug Tavern, and all the officers named were more or less injured. Supervisor Bell was the worst hurt, receiving a severe contusion on the head. Superintendent Hemphill was painfully injured about the hips, and Treasurer Richards had his knee and ankle badly sprained. The train was running about twenty-five miles an hour, when, from some unknown cause, it turned over. The injured were brought to Augusta tonight and taken home on litters. None of them are thought to be dangerously injured.

call of tomorrow will contain some statistical facts that will be gratifying to the citizens of unpretentious Griffin.

This paper, with its usual wide-awake ideas, has compiled the expenditures, by the various manufacturing interests in the city, of wages paid monthly to the operatives. The figures show a consolidated monthly pay-roll of over $10,000. Fully ainety per cent of this money, it is estimated, is spent with the merchants of Griffin. This puts in circulation thousands of dollars each month, and is the prime cause of the comparative case of money matters in Griffin since the establishment of so many different factories.

This amount is exclusive of the salaries paid to bookkeepers and presidents.

It will be borne in mind, also, that the money these wage-earners draw comes, principally from other states, and some of it from other nations. It is no uncommon thing to see bales of our factory goods marked to points in China, and other nations across the water.

GOOD FOR THE PLANTERS.

The same paper will announce the fact that from January 1st to April 18, 1830, only one planter in Spalding county has borrowed money from the money-lending agents, for which a mortgage had been given. It is doubtful if any county in the state can show a better record, and no city Griffin's size can show a better record, and no city Griffin's size can show a better record, and no city Griffin's size can show a larger pay-roll to men whe carn their bread by the sweat of their brows, than is here presented.

A WESTERN CARNIVAL. Ogden, Utah, the Royal Capitol of the New Kingdom.

Ogden, Utah, the Royal Capitol of the New Kingdom.

Ogden, Utah, April 18.—[Special.]—Arrangements are being made in this city for the most elaborate carnival ever held outside of New Orleans. The carnival is to be held under the direction of Rex I, king of the crescent city carnival, and is to be modeled in most respects on the plan adopted by the directors of that pageant. The carnival will be opened June 30th, and an immense palace is in course of construction, the floor of which will accommodate one thousand couples. In this vast structure balls and receptions will be held every night during the carnival which will continue from June 30th to July 5th. Every inducement will be offered the military, and the directors wish to make this the occasion of the most numerous gathering of military companies, both from the regular service and from the militia, ever held in the west. The success of the carnival is assured, and it is intended to inaugurate a custom which will be kept up from year to year, the celebration to be known as the carnival of the kingdom of the west. Rex II, king of the carnival, being supposed to hold his kingdom in allegiance to Rex I, king of the crescent city carnival. If all the programme is carried out, it promises to be one of the greatest pageants ever witnessed in America.

As to Alabama's Next Governor.

As to Alabama's Next Governor.

Selma, Ala., April 18.—[Special.]—Prominent among those who have been mentioned for the next governor of Alabama, is the name of Joseph F. Johnson, of Josephson county. Though he has never held office, he has, since the close of the war, been prominently identified with the politics of the state, and has served for four years as chairman of the state democratic executive committee. He is a sound, true blue democrat, has never hesitated to speak out his views, and has been a potent factor in the development of the section in which he lives. As a man who has made a success of all his undertakings, who is known and respected at home as well as abroad, and who has a breadth of mind to comprehend all the possibilities of every section of the state he could direct such a flow of capital and people into the state as would vitalize and energize every section of the state.

Alabama needs a good business man at her head. A man who has been loyal to his people when power and office were the reward of treason. A broad, able, aggressive business man, who understands the interests of all classes and sections. As a prominent citizen of the mineral belt, now the most progressive and wealthy section of the state, it will be hard to find a man who will better fill the bill than Captain Johnson.

DR. HOLMES' STATEMENT

MADE BEFORE THE JURY TRYING

He Relates the Circumstances Which Led Up to the Killing, His Efforts to Avoid Algood, and the Fatal End.

ROME, Ga., April 18.-[Special.]-The Holmes trial is nearing completion. Before 11 o'clock this morning the defense had completed its case with the exception of the Trion factory books, which were to arrive on the noon train, and the testimony of Mrs. Cooper, which had to be taken by interrogatories, as she was not able to attend court. At 10:45 the court adjourned, and Colonel Hammond, Judge Branham and Mr. Matt Henry to take the interrogatories. will be read when court convenes at 2 o'clock and after the introduction of the factory books to show the state of Mr. Algood's account, the defense will close with Dr. Holmes's statement, which will take an hour or more. It is necessarily long, as it covers two years and a half of time

The Morning Session.

The morning session opened with evidence touching the wound made by the first shot, the object of the defense being to show that the shot came from Mr. Algood's front, scarifying his right check and some piercing his right ear. It is the claim of the defense that Mr. Algood had turned round to right ear. It is the claim of the defense that Mr. Algood had turned round to face Dr. Holmes and had his hand on his pistol when the doctor fired.

It is agreed that Mr. Algood's face was first toward the hotel entrance, and from the drift of cross-examination it is evident that the prosecution will argue that Mr. Algood never turned to face Dr. Holmes, and was shot obliquely from the right of his rear while still facing toward the botel.

Captain J. J. Seav thought the shot came from the front. He testified that a good many scraped the skin of the cheek, and about a dozen went through the right ear. The highest shot ranged from the height of the eye to the tip of the ear. He felt several of the shot in the neck.

Mr. W. H. Adkins testified that some of the Mr. W. H. Adkins testified that some of the shot struck as far in front as the chin, some on his check, and some on his neck. He thought, from his examination of the wound, that the shot must have come from the front, or obliquely from the front.

DR. HAMMOND'S TESTIMONY.

Dr. L. P. Hammond, who also saw the wounds, was examined. He said there were a few shot in front of the ear, and some just behind the ear. He did-not probe them to see whether they went under the skin. Those in front ranged from the cheek bone backward. He thought, from what he saw, that the shot must have come from the front. He did not examine the wounds professionally, but simply from curjosity. have come from the front. He did not examine the wounds professionally, but simply from curiosity.

Mr. Aitred Hamilton, a brother-in-law of Mr. D.

F. Algood, and also of Dr. Holmes, was an important witness. His evidence began the Saturday before the tragedy, at Trion, when he saw Dr. Holmes and Mr. Algood talking. He thought from the looks of the men that Mr. Algood was from the looks of the men that Mr. Algood was angry. He was talking emphatically.

He further said that Dr. Holmes came on the train and lay down and said to him:

"Alf, Pin afraid something serious is going to happen D. F. and myself. He has abused metapulat."

happen D. F. and myself. He has accessed noterritly."

"Then," continued Mr. Hamilton, "he told me the conversation that occurred there. As near as I can remember it was that D. F. said:

"I have come to collect that $1,000 you owe me."
Dr. Holmes said he told him that he had paid that, and said:

"You remember that in Crouch's drug store I asked you if you needed the money, and if you did I would send you a check for it, and you said you had charged it to my account at the factory, and you gave me a due bill."

Mr. Algood replied:

"Yes, but that was never done, and now, by G—d, I want the money."

Dr. Holmes said he would give it to him. Then

Dr. Holmes said he would give it to him. Then he said:

"I want you to pay for that bull that was killed out at McDonald's."

"I told him," said Dr. Holmes, "that I did not think I ought to pay for the bull, considering the manner that McDonald had gotten it, but if he insisted I would send the money for that also. Then he said to me: 'Yes, d—n you, you have been trying to vote my sister's stock.' I said to him: 'Which one?' and he replied: 'Never mind about that. You and your wife have been trying to turn the family against me and put me out of the factory; and he said if this was not stopped one of us would kill him.'"

Mr. Hamilton testified that when he got to would have to die, that he would kill me or I would kill him."

Mr. Hamilton testified that when he got to Rome Dr. Holmes telegraphed for Mr. Marsh to come up from Atlanta, and called a family meeting on Sunday, the next day.

Mr. Hamilton testified that the meeting occurred in Dr. Holmes's office with closed doers, and there were present Mr. Marsh, Mr. M. A. Algood, Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Miss Mande, Dr. Holmes and Mrs. Holmes and Mr. Steel. He said Dr. Holmes to the was afraid there would be trouble. He did not want to harm a hair of his head, and he called them together to ask their advice and end in Siries. want to narm a nair or ins nead, and ne caned them together to ask their advice and put himself in their hands. He had worked hard and built up a good practice, but if they said so he was willing to sell Mrs Holmes's stock for $150 or whatever it would bring, sell his real estate and go to California. Mexico or navwhere else if they said so. would bring, sell his real estate and go to Cali-fornia, Mexico oranywhere else if they said so. He asked Mr. Marsh, Mrs. Algood and Mr. Steel if he had tried to get Mr.D. F.Algood out of the factory, and they said if he had they did not know it. It was agreed that Mr. Algood's mother and sisters join in a letter to him, assuring him that he was mistaken about Dr. Holmes and appealing to him to have a peaceable settlement of the dif-ficulty.

Mr. Hamilton suggested that Mr. Steel formulate the letter as he had made the suggestion, and that Mrs. Cooper copy it.
They then adjourned to dinner, and Mr. Steel formulated the letter in the presence of Mr. Algood's sisters.

The letter was not signed because of Mr. Steel's suggestion later in the afternoon that it might be misconstrued, and it would be better for Mrs. Algood an i her daughters to go to Trion the next day and make a personal appeal to D. F.

This was agreed on, and the letter was never sent.

The letter was put in evidence and read as follows:

"Dear Sir—We came down here this morning to have a pleasant time at dinner and return home, but we ali are very sorry to say that we have been very much disappointed when we heard of the trouble between you and Dr. Holmes, and now we wish, if possible, to disabuse your mind of what you accure the doctor of, for we all know and can assure you that Dr. Holmes never did or said anything against you, but on the other hand he has been your friend and has always defended you whenever and wherever your name was mentioned. This we all know, and surely you do know that your mother and your sisters have your good at heart, and what you have heard contrary to what we now tell you we know is not true, and we now unite in asking you to make friends with Dr. Holmes to the end that we may all be a happy and united family once more. And now, son, we alliknow that you have no better friend than Dr. Holmes. We have written this hoping that you will calmly consider what we have said, and we know that your success, and you know that the happiness of yourself and of us all, depends very much on the way you conduct yourself. We hoped that everything had been so arranged that we would remain in your present position, but unless you change, our interest will demand that you would remain in your present position, but unless you change, our interest will demand that a change be made in the management of the abil. We want you to give us an answer at once."

The defense closed this afternoon at half-mast ows:
"Dear Sir—We came down here this morning to

DR HOLMES'S STATEMENT.

'The defense closed this afternoon at half-past three with Dr. Holmes's statement, which occupied about an hour. The statement brought in little new matter, for most of it had been anticipated by the evidence in corroboration. It began with the conversation between Dr. Holmes and Mr. Algood in the livery stable, on the day the farm implements were sold in December, 1887, when Mr. Algood first threatened the doctor's life. From that time the narrative was continued to the reconciliation, after Mr. Algood's illness in the summer of 1888, when Dr. Holmes had him taken to his house, and nursed him through a spell of fever. He also told of Mr. Algood's returning coolness in the summer of 1889, and how Mr. Armstrong communicated his brother-in-law's threat to him last September. Holmes further corroborated his statement as to Mr. Allgood's threats against his life by exhibiting two file insurance policies of $25,000 each, one taken out a few days after the first threat, in December, 1887, and the other dated four days after Mr. Algood made last September. The angry interview and final threat of Mr. Algood to the doctor in prison on Saturday before the tragedy, were related about as Mr. Hamilton had testified to them this morning, except that it was fuller as to detail, and Dr. Holmes said Mr. Algood at the end of the conversation, said nothing would satisfy him but the death of one of them.

What transpired at the family meeting on Saturday was also given very much as Mr. Hamilton to the funt Monday evening, he realized that he had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, and one of their ives had to meet Mr. Algood, he had the meet Mr. Algood had to her interest the meet Mr. A pied about an hour. The statement brought in little new matter, for most of it had been a pated by the evidence in corroboration. It

But I am satisfied that he intends to kill me. I am going to give him every chance in the world, and I don't intend to do anything to hurt him until I see that there is no chance in the world to eave myself, and that he will me if I do not protect myself. I have got no will. In a certain place you will find some bonds and insurance policies. Get and give them to my wife, and tell her to pay my debts and do whatever she pleases with the balance of the money. I have but one request—that she will never let my mother suffer for anything. I think he will kill me, because I am not going to hure him until I am obliged to do it, and this is the only request I make from you."

Dr. Holmes described the ride down in the carriage as the witnesses had testified of it, and said that when the earriage drove up to the pavement in front of the office, Mr. Algood wheeled and put his hand on his pistol, the butt of which he could see, as there was a bright electric light, and the glass door. He saw on Mr. Algood's face as much anger as he ever saw expressed on a countenance, and when the hand went to the pistol he realized that one of them had to die, and he shot. Just how far Mr. Algood sank he could not tell. But when he went down he was still leaning over with his hand on his pistol, working it up and down. His first intention a 'ter the first shot was to jump out and run around the hotel and escape him, but when he saw Mr. Algood working at his pistol he knew there was not time to get around him.

Dr. Holmes gave his words on jumping out of the carriage about as the witnesses had given them.

THE STATE INTRODUCES SOME EVIDENCE.

THE STATE INTHODUCES SOME EVIDENCE.

The state introduced Mr. Ike O'Bryan, who swore that a day or two after the homicide Mr. Dempsey, the driver, said in his presence that Mr. Algood had a knife, but no pistol that he saw; also that Mr. Dempsey said on the way down that Dr. Holmes asked the gentleman inside to change seats with him, and then he (Dempsey) knew some dirty work was going to be done. Mr. Adams swore to the same conversation with Dempsey. On the stand yesterday, Mr. Dempsey denied saying what O'Bryan attributed to him, and the statement of O'Bryan and Adams is also controverted by Mr. McKeldin's testimony.

attributed to him, and the statement of O'Bryan and Adams is also controverted by Mr. McKeldin's testimony.

The state introduced three witnesses, young Tenny Myers, J. W. Mears and George Hutchinson, who swore that Combs, the depot agent, said the morning after the tragedy that Mr. Algood came to Rome for a pacific settlement. It will be remembered that Combs swore that Mr. Algood told him, as he got on the train the afternoon of the 26th, that he would put some one in a coffin or come back in a coffin himself.

There was a tilt between Colonel Hammond and Judge Branham on shorthand reporting. Colonel Hammond was cross-firing the testimony of Armstrong and Parks with a shorthand report of testimony before the coroner's inquest. He put Mr. Craigmiles, the stenographer who made that report, on the stand to swear to his transcriptions. Craigmiles swore he reported correctly as far as he was able; and that he did not think it possibe that he could have got the answer to one question transferred to another. Judge Branham made him write down a good part of the shorthand alphabet, showing that the letter B only difference between T and D. F and V. S and Z, and so on through the alphabet, as far as that principal went. He also made him testify that the vowels were left out, and had him write some of the mystic abbreviations which look so much like pothooks to the uninitiated.

The effect on the jury was perceptible, especially when Mr. Craigmiles's testimony that he did not consider himself an expert was added.

Colonel Hammond got up and said:

"Mr. Craigniles, how do you write wisdom and nonsense?"

onsense?"
That brought a ripple over the audience, and the heriff roared for order.

That brought a ripple over the audience, and the sheriff roared for order.

Judge Branham writes shorthand, and he shrewdly used his knowledge with great effect.

Mr. Craigmiles's work in general showed up well for one who had not done professional reporting, and was put to the trying test of conceit questions by a coroner's jury.

EWDENCE IN REBUTTAL.

The state will probably talk a good part of tomorrow with evidence in rebuttal. The arguments will not go far before Monday. There will probably be three speeches on each side.

Colonel Hammond has fongth the defense so steadily, and cross-examined witnesses so rigidly, that he has excited the curiosity of the country folks. One of them said to Seab Wright:

"Who is that little old man who is so d—d inquisitive?"

"Who is that little our man who is so desinguisitive?"

The state introduced the blood-stained tablet in evidence, and read the contents to the jury.

Besides family matters, the tablet contained a reiteration of Mr. Algood's charge that Dr. Holmes was trying to get control of his sisters' stock to get him out of the factory.

Abundance in Its Hills-The DEMOREST, Ga., April 18.-[Special.]-

In all of north Georgia there is hardly a more promising little city than Demorest, located in Habersham county. The country pround it is rolling, and the scenery interesting. From the several elevations within the corporate lines of Demorest, many of the mountains forming the Appalachain chain, prossing the upper portion of Georgia, can be rahee mountain, and in viewing them, the eye passes over beautiful valleys, noted for their productiveness.

Demorest is only two miles from the mills of the Porter Manufacturing company, four miles from Clarksville, the famous summer resort in this section, where before the war, the wealth and culture of the state gathered to spend the warm months in pursuit of health, and only four miles from Cornelia, on the Atlanta and

Charlotte Air-Line, at which point the Blue Ridge and Atlantic railroad taps the Atlanta and Charlotte. The beautiful and historic Nacoochee valley is only fourteen miles away, while the falls of Tallulah and Toccoa, are within easy reach by rail or wagon. Demor-est was located at this most desirable point by Mr. Frank J. Sibley, formerly of New York, but lately of Chicago, who came south for the purpose of selecting a site where a town could be built that would be entirely removed from the disturbing influences of the saloon. He devoted six months to traveling leisurely over

Georgia and other states in search of a place where climate, soil, timber, minerals, and water power were to be found, and finally was rewarded for all his time and expense. Assisted by Engineer John A. Reynolds, he selected 3,500 acres in Habersham county,

THE GROWING TOWN OF DEMOREST

town of Demorest, which promises at no distant day to be an important manufacturing center. It is the purpose of the company to either build, or induce others to build, a large number of manufacturing enterprises for the manufacture of textile fabrics and woodenware. There is a vast amount of brown iron ore on the property, but for the present this valuable deposit will not be developed, as there are many other industries which are planned, and which the company desire to have well-established before undertaking any fron mining or milling, which often attract an undesirable population. The company owning the tract upon which Demorest is located is called The Demorest Home, Mining and Improvement company, and the progressive lit-tle city of Demorest is named

IN HONOR OF W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, of New York, the celebrated educator, phi-lanthropist and temperance leader, who has done so much for the cause of education in his

and other states by his munificent gifts.

Mr. Demorest appreciated the honor the more from the fact that his name was given to the town without his knowledge or consent, and in this way was quite a surprise to him.

Mr. Demorest is a personal friend of Mr. Sibley and several of the stockholders of the company, and will visit the town bearing his name about the first of June. He will be accompanied by party of northern capitalists, who will spend the summer in the Yosemite valley and the Yellowstone country This party will take in Demorest on their way to these places of in-by the Demorest Home, Mining and Improve ment company, is covered with a fine growth of timber, much of which is composed of hard wood, suitable for the manufacture of almost any article known in

THE MANUFACTURE OF WOODENWARES, and in the immediate vicinity is an inexhaust-ible supply of hard wood timber of the very best quality, consisting of oak, hickory, maple, walnut, ash, chestnut, and poplar. In addi-tion to this array of woods, to be found in the forests about Demorest, pine abounds in large quantities, suitable for lumber and the manu-facture of charcoal. These woods will be ntilized in every way imaginable, to make them of value, and scores of different indus-dustries for wood manufacture are being and will be established.

Running through the property of the Demo-

THE LEAD IS INEXHAUSTIBLE, and that the quality of the ore is as good as any found in the entire south. In looking at some of the openings I found that the vein is surprisingly near the surface, making the mining of this product an easy matter, at a very small exense. In an old field, near the foot of the slope, I saw a ten-year-old boy plowing up this mineral with a steer, and paying no more attention to this valuable product, than he would to so much refuse stone. The boy treated this evidence of the wealth of his and as a nuisance that he would gladly get rid of if he knew how to do so. WATER POWERS.

The water powers are a great feature of Demorest, and will all be improved in the most substantial manner. One of the water powers is now being improved by the erection of a dam 270 feet long and 16 feet high above the bed of the creek. The foundation is solid ledge, which rises rapidly from the bed of the creek to the hills on either side. The dam is of solid masonry. The top is two feet above the water line. The extreme width at the base is 13\frac{1}{2} feet. The masonry is well bedded in natural cement mortar, making it very substantial and solid. The overflow will be confined to a fifty-foot space in the center of the dam, which is two feet below the top. The water will be conducted to the wheel by galvanized spiral pressure pipe, and controlled by the Galvin

J. A. REYNOLDS. Mr. George D. Stone, the superintendent of the Demorest Home, Mining and Improvement company, is a young man of twenty-four years of age, but owns a head that would do a man of twice that age. He is possessed of a vast amount of energy, and his udgment is worth a great deal to his company. He is also mayor of Demorest, treasurer and acting manager of the wagon manufactory, treasurer of the Clothing Mill company, president of the Telephone exchange, treasurer of the Demorest seminary and also treasurer of the Athletic club.

Speaking of the property before it was pursed by the Demorest company, Mayor Stone

"The property was originally owned by Mr. Henry Rossignal, of Augusta, who owned a handsome residence here, but who had not been living here for some time prior to the land changing hands. I came to Demorest in April last from Tallapoosa, attracted here by the great natural advantages of this section, which can justly boast of the finest climate in the south, together with unequaled water power for manufacturing purposes, thousands of acres of the best hard wood timber, and immense iron ore beds. I have every confidence in the success of the town of Demorest, and show my confidence in it by investing all of my means here."

FRANK J. SIELEY. Said he: "It is composed of five commis sioners, appointed under the act incorporating for one. year from last January, when their successors will be elected by the people. These are G. D. Stone, E. A. Buckland, H. R. Davies, J. H. Loudermilk and W. H. Warner. These commissioners met and selected me as the mayor of the town, J. H. Loudermilk, marshal, and E. A. Buckland clerk and

"What is the population of Demorest?" "We have now about two hundred people who actually live here, and nearly all of this number have come here since January. Of this number about one hundred and fifty have ome here from distant states, and are de lighted with our climate, the surroundings of Demorest of the present day, and the bright prospects of Demorest in the future. This population is increasing very rapidly, and houses and stores are being built as fast as building material can be secured. Just at present there is not only a scarcity of building material, but a scarcity of skilled workmen and laborers. There are now under process of construction nearly fifty residences and stores and

A PROHIBITION STRONGHOLD "The prohibition issue will never be a bone of contention in Demorest," said Mayor Stone. "Our charter prohibits the sale or manufacture of any kind of alcoholic liquor, and no sale of a lot is made to anyone who deals in, or may wish to deal in, liquor of any description. A prohibitory clause to this effect is embraced in every deed. As mayor, I am presumed to hold court for the trial of offenders of the laws of the city. So far, I have never held court, as we have had no breach of the peace since Demorest was incorporated, and I have not even found it necessary to supply myself with even found it necessary to supply myself with

Mr. Frank J. Sibley, the secretary of the Demorest Home, Mining and Improvement company, was met at the company's office, where he was looking after a large correspondence, assisted by two clerks. He said, in answer to questions put to him by THE CON-

"I came south with the full purpose of se lecting a place for a town, where the business advantages and healthful climate would make a desirable location for homes. I think I have found this place in Demorest. For a number of years I have been closely associated with the temperance bodies of the whole north, and have met thousands of the best temperance people in twenty states. Of these, hundreds have expressed to me a desire to go south and live, if a place could be found where the and these lots have been purchased by a very excellent class of citizens who would be an honor to any town or country. Every one of them are glad to accept the conditions of our deeds."

"What is the quality of the iron ore upon your property?"
"Equal to the best in the south, and inexhaustible in quantity. Before the advent of railroads in this section of the state. the ore from the mines on our property was manufact-ured into merchant iron for various purposes, and iron workers who have seen specimens in sion of the company, pronounce it SUPERIOR TO ANY MANUFACTURED IRON now on the market. One advantage of our ore is that it can be worked without being mixed with other ores, as is necessary with the ore of many renowned regions, and besides this we can mine our ores at a very small expense, as the veins are not only large but are almost on the surface. While driving on the road along the line of the lead you can see the road along the line of the lead you can see the ore cropping out in almost every direction. The road itself is practically a bed of rich iron ore. I think that the Demorest company has a fortune in the iron ore beds upon its property, and we expect to astonsish some people when we get to developing our iron ore property."

"When will this development commence?" "Oh, not for the present. We are first going to pay our attention to working up our timber, and when we get a good many factories started on this line, we will turn our attention

The Demorest Manu-facturing company will commence work as soon as the water power can be made available, which will be some time during the present month. A large number of orders have already been placed on file, and fifty wagons will be turned out monthly.

A Wood-Working Factory.

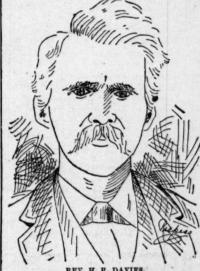

Mr. C. W. Stambaugh, formerly of Canton,

O., is one of Demorest's most enterprising citizens. He has come to Georgia to live, and has commenced the construction of a building in which he will manufacture a large variety of woodenware novelties. Mr. Stambaugh is a practical woodworker and engraver. He will make wood cuts a prominent feature of his business. He will also manufacture a large variety of engraver's supplies, for which there is much demand in the south, also such turned and ornamental goods as are used by house builders in their line of business.

The Demorest Hoop Company. This enterprise is headed by F. Norton, of New York, president, who comes to Demorest with the best of improved machinery for the manufacture of hoops. The building is a large one and will work a large number of ha and the enterprise will turn out a car load of hoops every week. Contracts can be placed for all the hoops that can be made, and the company is now considering the question of doubling its capacity.

The Variety Works.

In this enterprise, which will soon be under headway, a large assortment of toys and voodenware novelties will be made. They will commence operation with forty men, and will eventually employ double that number. Bryson & Watt are the proprietors, and both have had extended experience in manufacturing. The plant will cost $20,000. The promoters of this enterprise are from Indiana, and are moving their families to Demorest to live, because of the prohibition feature of the town.

The Clothing Mill Compan is a corporation of $10,000 of capi-tal, inaugurated by citizens of Demorest. This enterprise will manufacture all kinds of clothing for the southern market. She has been a very successful editor and publishing house manager, and has large business experience. This company will employ about fifty hands.

Other Factories.

Secretary Sibley is in correspondence with a number of capitalists who are likely to establish additional enterprises in Demorest. Among these is a silk mill, to employ 200 hands, a corset factory to employ 125, and a cotton mill to employ seventy-five, and many others.

The Educational Interests.

The Demorest-seminary is incorporated under the auspices of it he Methodist Episcopal church. Their first building is now erected and occupied as a schoolroom, where a competent teacher is instructing the pupils during the entire year. The handsome brick building, to cost $15,000, is to be erected during the coming year, and a row of neat cottages, for ing, to cost $15,000, is to be erected during coming year, and a row of neat cottages boarding pupils, together with a large being-hall, will be built in the near future.

A University.

A great industrial university, on an entitiferent plan from industrial schools be fore started, is planned. The endowment of this university will be invested in manufactur-ing enterprises, to be situated on the college grounds, which will employ the students for a few hours each day, where their earnings will pay their entire expenses of boarding, clothing, lights, fuel and tuition, without interfering with the pursuit of their studies. Mr. Sibley, the secretary of the company, has had such a school in view for years and hopes soon to interest some wealthy friends of education in this educational plan for the benefit of the bright young men and women of the country who are unable to pay their way otherwise.

Mr. J. A. Reynolds, the civil engineer of the Demorest Home, Mining and Improvement Company, is a native Georgian. He was the first to call attention to the site, as he had wandered over every foot of it in the happy days of his boyhood, and as he grew in years, his appreciation of his childhood's home and its wonderful advantages and beauty steadily increased. He laid off the property and is now engaged in running the

In platting off the property, several parks have been located, and near them will be located a pretty lake, which will cover thirty acres. This lake will be used for fishing.

Mr. Reynolds is devoting his entire time to the business of the company, and believes that Demorest is the coming town of north Georgia. He is full of enterprise, a hard worker and is constantly on the move.

Above is a fair photograph of Mr. A. A. Safford, formerly of Ripon, Wis., who has come to Demorest to live. He has built a fine brick store, and has a large stock of goods. He is one of the directors of the company, and one of the large holders of stock in the enterprise. He is enthusiastic over the prospects of Demorest, and thinks that a great many of his friends from Wisconsin will come to Demorest to live.

There is a certain characteristic of the people There is a certain characteristic of the people of Demorest that will impress itself upon any visitor who goes there. It is this, that every one will receive a warm welcome, no matter whether he becomes a purchaser of property or not. The population seems to do all in its power to impress visitors favorably by their good treatment of them, and there is no pulfing or hauling to see who will capture a vis-itor's pocketbook, as is the usual case in many of the young and growing towns of the south.

Besides this there is another thing about the people of Demorest which will be noticed by a visitor very soon after landing there, and that is that every one you meet is in love with the town. There are no croakers and complaining spirits who first want one thing and then another. The entire population seems to be of one way of thinking, and the whole people remind you of one large family, devoted to each other's interests, and bent upon gathering about them congenial and enterprising citizens who will take an interest in the develop

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 19, 1890.

Close the Work Today! The work of raising the exposition fund should be closed today. It is important that the committees in charge should give every business man, on whom they are expected to call, an opportunity to subscribe to the fund today.

Not one-half of the necessary amount has yet been raised, but many firms who will subscribe have been waiting until today to make their announcement. No business man in Atlanta can, in justice to himself or the city, refuse to assist in this undertaking on which the success of the exposition depends.

Eight thousand dollars contributed from the citizens is absolutely necessary to the success of the exposition. The railroads will subscribe as much, making the preliminary fund about $16,000.

Every dollar of this is needed, and nothing can be done toward making final arrangements for the exposition until this fund is assured. It is sincerely to be hoped that a large amount will be raised today, and that the committees will push the work to a close:

A Slap at Satan. When an unfortunate person commits sui-ride, charitable people generally suggest insanity as the cause, while others regard the self-murderer as a criminal.

But the good citizens of the quaint old Pennsylvanian village of Newmarket are still dominated by the religious ideas of a century ago, and they know that behind the micide stalks Satan. The other day their neighbor, Mrs. Elizabeth Seaton, to the great scandal of the community, shuffled off her mortal coil in the most reckless fashion. She suspended herself on her bedroom door, and was dead when she was cut down.

The coroner's jury understood the true in wardness of the affair. These honest yeomen knew that the devil had been at work. and they determined to put the blame just where it belonged. In their verdict they said that Elizabeth Seaton, not having God before her eyes, but being seduced and moved by the instigation of the devil, did with two certain handkerchiefs of the value of twenty cents, feloniously kill, strangle and murder herself, against the peace and dignity of the commonwealth.

According to this verdict, the woman was a felon in the eyes of the law, but primarily the evil one was responsible, because he seduced and instigated her to commit the deed. It would be interesting to know what followed. Did these simple villagers hold Elizabeth Seaton guiltless enough for a grave in a church-yard, or did they follow the old fashion of their fathers, and bury her at the cross roads, with a stake driven through her

It would be most inopportune and unlucky just now for some stranger in black, with a Mephistophelian cast of features, to be seen prowling about the streets of Newmarket after dark. He would be taken for Batan in search of another victim, and some would lose no time in falling upon him with the deadliest weapon at hand. For many days to come the Newmarketers will swear that they can sniff brimstone in

The Latest Republican Outrage.

The partisan experiment of the senate in seating the republican senators from Montana is not likely to be successful as a po-Itical experiment. As a temporary affair it gives the republicans two more members of the senate, but the most important result of It is to make Montana a democratic state.

The people of that new and ambitious commonwealth naturally regard the action of the republican senate as an outrage. Being familiar with all the facts and circumstances that have led to the political dispute in their state, they know that the senate has decided the question, not on its merits, but on purely partisan grounds. The whole matter turned on the validity of the votes cast at precinct thirty-four in Silver Bow county The republican case was based on the fact that the territorial canvassing board, controlled by a republican majority, found that the republican candidates in Silver Bow county were entitled to the credentials of

The democrats declared that if the territorial canvassing board had simply pronounced the Silver Bow republicans elected the result would not have been questioned. But this the board did not do. It declared that no returns from Silver Bow county were before it, that the messenger sent for them could not get them from the county clerk, and that the board had proceeded to make up the returns "from the best sources of information obtainable."

Afterwards the clerk of Silver Bow county officially reported the returns, including the votes taken at precinct thirty-four. On the face of these returns the democratic delegates from Silver Bow county were elected to the legislature. The republicans at once taw that this would give the democrats a majority in the legislature, and so the county canvassing board met and threw out the vote of precinct thirty-four as fraudulent and void. 'The district court, however, issued a mandamus compelling the board to count the vote of precinct thirty-four.

This gave the democrats a majority in the legislature, but the republicans immediately appealed from the decision, and while the appeal was pending the federal administraon, owned and controlled by that precious rascal Quay, was prevailed on to issue a proclamation admitting Montana into the union. Thus the territorial courts were swept away, and those tribunals were placed in the hands of the republicans.

was conducted properly, and that no atte was made to question its validity until the republicans discovered that they could secure control of the legislature and elect senators by throwing the vote out. It is no wonder that the people of Montana are outraged by this gross miscarriage of justice, and the result of the recent elections in Butte and Helena show that they are determined to seek relief at the ballot box.

A Conspiracy.

The republicans will have to look to it. Conspiracy and intimidation are on foot in North Carolina. The negroes of the fifth district of that state are to be kept away from the polls in order to prevent them from voting for Mr. John M. Brower, a republican, who now represents the fifth congression al district of North Carolina.

If the republicans in congress do not suppress this conspiracy, their friend and brother. Mr. Brower, will be left at home by reason of the failure of the negroes to vote for him. The least that congress could do would be to appoint a committee of investigation, as suggested by the New York Times, and send it down to North Carolina with instructions to uncover the conspiracy.

It seems that the negroes in Brower's district have organized to suppress their own vote. Some three hundred of them met in convention in Greensboro the other day to consider the situation. They denounced Brower and the Harrison administration for failing to recognize their fealty to the party, made provisions for an executive committee in each township, with instructions to work for the defeat of Mr. Brower by keeping the negroes away from the polls and permitting the whites to do all the voting.

There is a humorous side to this, but it also has its serious side. We call the attention of our northern friends to the fact that when these North Carolina negroes are opposed to a candidate, they do not go about defeatinng him as other citizens would. They do not put up another candidate, nor do they vote for the opposing candidate. They simply refrain from voting. They will probably defeat their own plan, if they carry it out, for Mr. Brower can contest the election, and Mr. Reed will undoubtedly seat him with his little gavel.

Boynton of Boston.

When Parson Boynton, of Boston, made his recent attack upon the south, we felt assured that a man of his reckless words and intemperate speech would some day undo himself and go to pieces in his own pulpit.

The parson has come to grief even sooner than we expected. In a sermon last Sunday he said in effect, that, as a matter of policy a Christian should not drink wine at dinner—that he should set a good example, and, if he took a glass of wine, it should be not in public, but in a closet-a dark closet with the door shut.

The Boston Herald very properly jumps upon the reverend gentleman with both feet, and charges him with advocating a policy of hypocrisy calculated to undermine the broad ethical principles of the Christian religion. The Herald takes the position that if wine drinking is an offense it ought to be condemned in an unqualified manner, whether the drinking takes place in or out of a dark closet. If it is not an offense it should not be condemned under the ordinary conditions of publicity. To pretend to be an abstainer and at the same time drink wine on the sly is a contemptible piece of dishonesty. Parson Boynton's appeal to his flock to be nodel saints in public, and jolly revellers be hind closed doors, shows what manner of man he is. This is the godly apostle who wants to lead a new crusade against the outh, with Dr. Gregg, who would consecrate his rifle to the cause of the negro's rights!

We are done with the parson. Our hope that he would turn out a rascal made o sterner stuff has been disappointed. He is only the ordinary Aminadab Sleek-a reformer for revenue, a prohibitionist with a bottle. We can afford to let him go.

Congress and The Southern Question The Springfield Republican makes a timely and forcible protest against the disposi tion on the part of congress to control elections in the southern states. The Republican says that such a measure as that of which Mr. Cabot Lodge seems to be so proud, will aggravate rather than relieve the difficulties of the colored voter at the south. This is the position that THE Constitution and other southern newspa pers have taken. The negroes have advanced considerably in all respects since the reconstruction period, but the mass of them are unfit to govern. The negroes were never worse off than when they were voting license to the carpet-baggers. Every measure that hurt the white people also hurt the negroes;

but the mass of them do not see this and do not believe it. The negro was less protected when he had federal bayonets at his back than he has ever been since, and this fact ought to be apparent to every northern man who is at all interested in the subject. When congress undertakes to place the negro in power by means of federal control of the elections, the result, and the only result, will be to re vive in the south the confusion and tumult that marked the reconstruction period. When the federal government undertakes to control southern elections, it will be a dark day for the south and for southern business interests; in some mysterious way not apparent at present, the republican party may be helped; but after it is all over and the results are measured, it will be found that the negro is in a worse condition

It is to be hoped that the conservative sentiment of the north will be able to postpone indefinitely this new and useless political crusade against the south.

Alexander Stephens's School History is fair and just to all sections, and the only objection we find to it is that it is not adapted to the understanding of the younger children. A revision of either of the two last books by a competent man and practical teacher could remove the objections and give us a book for southern schools by southern authors.

It is our opinion that children should be first taught the hitory of their own state, and their inhistory of the United States by an impartial and unprejudiced writer, without lies or sectionalism.

This is a very important matter and has been discussed more than once in these columns. It is to be hoped that the various ex-confederate organizations all over the south will support their Tennessse comrade in the stand they have taken. No sectional history is wanted in our schools, but it is only fair to demand a history that is accurate and impartial.

JUDGE JAMES R. BROWN

WILL STAND FOR THE NINTH DISTRICT.

He Announces His Candidacy for the No tion to Succeed Colonel A. D. Candler-His Career Reviewed.

CANTON, Ga., April 18 .- [Special.] - Judge James R. Brown, of this place, today told your correspondent that he had decided to allow the use of his name before the people, and the democratic congressional convention of the ainth district; as a candidate for the no tion for congress to succeed Colonel Candle who has so faithfully ard ably represented the district during the present and past three terms, and now declines a re-election.

Judge Brown is a strong man, able and fully identified with the best interest of this section of Georgia and its people, having lived here for the past forty-three years or longer. He is a man around whom the democracy can and will rally, and will take from Mr. Pickett scores of his former most earnest independent supporters. Besides, he will no doubt pol quite a number of republican votes in this end of the district, who are, and have always been, his personal friends. In addition to this, the alliance of the district will be practically solid for him, inasmuch as he is a farmer, having long since retired from the practice of law and is devoting his time to his farm-ing interest. He is sound upon the leading questions upon which the alliance and farmer generally ask recognition in congress, and in thorough accord with the platform recently adopted by the executive committee of the Farmers' alliance. He knows the wants of the people, all classes of our citizens, and is, therefore, the people's candidate. At the end of his term as Judge of the Blue Ridge circuit, he decided to permanently retire from politics but the numerous letters from all over the district and encouragement received wherever he has gone, has induced him to decide to allow the use of his name, but at the same time asking and expecting the people to decide for themselves who may be the stronger man in the district and to cast their votes and influence for that man, let him come from whatever county he may.

If nominated, and there can hardly be no doubt about that, Judge Brown will certainly be elected and will make Georgia and the south one of the best representatives she even had. At present Judge Brown is the only avowed candidate for the democratic nomina tion for congress in this district. Others have been prominently mentioned, among whom i Carter Tate, of Pickens, who has a pretty strong following on this side of the district and Colonel T. E. Winn, of Gwinnett, who has more or less strength over the entire district. Rev. Thaddeus Pickett, who ran against Colonel Candler in 1888, has been considered an ind pendent candidate since his defeat by Colonel Candler, although he has not intimated pub licly whether he is or not. Mr. Pickett, ho ever, is not believed to be near as strong as he was two years ago. The republicans will probably have a candidate in the field, and so the race in the ninth will probably be triang and full of interest from now until after ides of November, when Judge Brown have been elected by a larger vote than has been polled in the ninth district in many years. Next week's Cherokee Advance will formally announce Judge Brown's candidacy, and perhaps print a letter from him, defining his position upon the tariff and other leading questions of the day, in which the people are most vitally interested. most vitally interested

This is the first indications, and there are probably many others who have the matter under advisement. Whether any of these will run we do not know, but at any rate the race for representatives promises to be a lively one.

As to the primaries, it now becomes the duty of the county democratic executive committee, as well as the senatorial district executive committee, to meet, organize, fill vacancies, if any, and decide upon a time for holding the primaries. The committee should not be lethargic about this matter. The gentleman of whom I write above, and who would reflect credit on himself and honor on his county as their exponent in the coming race, is well known throughout the district, and his ability and worth universally appreciated. It is without his knowledge, but with pleasure and confidence that I present the name of John B. Hutcheeon."

That will be decidedly unwelcome news to Mr. Scott's many friends, for there is no young man in Atlanta who has more friends than he A few days ago Mr. Scott sold his beautiful Forest avenue home to Mayor Glenn, the consideration being $25,000. #### THE LAST DAY.

CITY REGISTRATION BOOKS TO

Next Saturday the Election for Waterworks and Sewers Bonds Will Be Held-It Is Important That You Register.

Today is the last day for registering for the waterworks and sewer bond election. The registration books will be closed at nine o'clock tonight. Between morning and that time every qualified voter in Atlanta should have his hame upon the lists. Register today by all means. The question involved in the election is one of great importance to the city. Think of it! Your vote may decide those questions either one way or the other. It is a responsibility which no good citizen should shirk.

Don't depend on somebody else to decide which is best for the city. Have a voice in the matter yourself. You are entitled to it, and the city is entitled to your judgment.

If you don't qaualify yourself to vote your judgment on the day of election you may have occasion to regret it.

It is important that the sentiment of the people should be expressed either one way or the other when the ballots rast next week are counted. If the bonds are to be issued a majority of the voters of the city should say so. If they are not to be issued It should be a majority that opposes it.

Don't neglect to register. The questions at issue have been fully discussed, and if every voter is not posted upon the merits of both sides, it is nobody's fault

The chances are that all who care to have a say-so in the election have already made up their minds, and when the day arrives they will vote their judgment as to the best interests of the city.

Maybe you have made up your mind, but haven't registered. In that case you should be certain to register

Don't hang off without taking a stand on the question, and then rant and tear your hair when the election is over, because things are not run to please you.

To do this, they realized the fact that it would require the liearty co-operation of the business men of Macon, and they went to them and requested that they take part in the work for the fair. These merchants have claimed, heretofore, that the reason these fairs have excited no more interest is because the busi-ness men of the city, in which it was held, were excluded from its management. The society has now remedied this, and if this next fair doesn't surpass all previous efforts, the people of Macon will be to blame. The society realizes the fact that it is high time

EDITIONS CONSTITUTION: My excuse for again appearing before the public through the columns of your paper on this subject, is that I feel deeply interested in the issues involved, and would, if possible, avert the calamity consequent upon a failure to issue the bonds in question.

Judge Hilber says: "If the people of Atlanta will turn out in great force and vote down these sewer bonds, the moral effects and beneficial influzance will be of incalculable value,"

On the contrary, if the people of Atlanta, in the face of the emphatic declarations and recommendations of the board of health, published in the daily press and repeated in the forcible argument of Judge Hopkin's in yesterday's Constriverion, should turn out and vote down the sewer bonds the moral effect and the beneficial influence will be "in your mind's eye." Such action would be equivalent to saying to the outside public, some of whom are probably looking this way for homes and investments, that we value the alunighty dollar more than the health and comfort of our citizens, and that we prefer to risk the danger of epidemics to the expenditure of a few thousand dollars.

The apprehension of an injury to the credit of Atlanta by the issuance of $100,000 of sewer bonds is a "bugahoo" of the buggest kind, and those who are frightened by any such "clap trap," do not understand the financial position and resources of Atlanta, and do not fully appreciate the privileges they enjoy as citizens of this great and growing city. What a commentary it would be on this city if the fiat should go forth that Atlanta people had formally decided at the ballot box that the issuance of the pitful sum of $100,000 of sewer bonds would injure the credit of the city.

would not the credit of Atlanta be worse injured by a failure to vote the issue?
Fellow-citizens, Atlanta has gone far ahead of the mere "perhaps," and it is now positively known that we are on the verge of becoming avery large and prosperous city if the ideas of liberal and progressive men shall obtain in the management of her municipal affairs. I think we have that kind of material now in the city government, and I am willing to entrust them with the expenditure of a few thousand dollars looking towards a measure calculated to preserve our now excellent sanitary condition.

Judge Hillyer Writes Again.

Editions Constitution: It is a great mistake to suppose that the sewage of the city runs off down the open branches. Such is not the case. There are already sanitary sewers which extend down the three principal alleys of drainage clear out to the city limits. They are two or three feet in diameter—fully large enough to carry off all the sewage proper, even if we had a population three times as great as we now have. I repeat it, three times our present population. If these sanitary sewers get out—of order (as they, like all other human works, sometimes do), the break can be and is repaired for a trifle of five or ten dollars. If any lateral or closet sewer has been allowed to emply into the new rain—water sewers they want us to bond the city to build, it is against law and by neglect that it is of. The sanitary sewers only cost about a dollar and a half a foot or less, are already built and paid for long ago, and if taken care of they can be made to do very well, but they do not drain the swamp or meadow land. The proposed rain—water sewers cost about sixteen dollars per foot and will drain the meadows and boom up the low-lying land. The new sewers run along parallel with the sanitary sewers very near together. In many places you can step from one on to the other. I defy contradiction when I say that so far as more sewerage is concerned, there is no more astual necessity for two sewers side by side, than there would be for three. Still nobody depines that the new and larger sewers, built under Mr. Hering's plans, are superior to the old, and when finday of building them. But that is not the son on the guestion is, shall we begin the policy of bonds and debt and extravagance, or shall we keep on in the good old way of doing this kind of work gradually and well, and paying for it as we go?

Talk about posterity! Tooterity does not pay the one million two hards and in the city government build something on the sewers not of that money. The cash could easily Judge Hillyer Writes Again

This city can be, and in the near future ought to be run on a basis of one per cent taxation, instead of one and one half per cent, as it is now. It is not a question of central property or suburban property, but of all property. Not a question of rich men or poor men, but of all men. A question more for poor men if anything, because less able to bear the burden.

The Southern Cadets Will Probably Not Attend the Kansas City Drill.

Macon, Ga., April 18.—[Special.]—It is probable that the Southern Cadets will not attend the Kan-sas City drill in June next. As this announce-ment carries with it much interest, the following communication from Captain Sims will be intently read by the military of Atlanta and the friends of read by the tailitary of Atlanta and the friends of the Cadets in all parts of the country:

To the Citizens of Macon: I desire through this medium to express to the citizens of Macon, one and all, the high appreciation of the Southern Cadets for the Lacquilleent demonstration on our arrival from Jacksonville, Saturday, April 12th. We felt that our efforts to place our command second to none in this broad land, that our conduct while in a foreign state, was entitled to an honorable place in the good opinions of our home people, and we expected an expression of it in no uncertain terms, yet such an ovation as you tendered us, we felt ourselves in many ways unworthy. Never in the annuls of our beloved city has there such been a reception tendered, save to one who now lies beneath the sod, and whose memory and faine belong to us all. Yesterday's subscribers were: a reception tendered, save to one who now lies beneath the sod, and whose memory and fame belong to us all.

To the many friends who have tendered us a trip to Kansas City that we might there cross swords with the great commands of the west and northwest, I beg to lay before them a few facts for their consideration. For the past three years the Southern Cadets have entered more competitive drills than any other company in double that period of time. The ranks of the Cadets are filled with the young business men of our city and these frequent absences from home have called them away from their business, and often times financial loss results. Their employers have never failed to allow a member of the company to leave when the company called. The merchants, bankers, etc., have always been very liberal in allowing their employes to remain away from business as long as necessary for the good of the company. To enter this drill would require an absence from home of ten days or two weeks, and I fear that the employers of my company will grow weary of this continued draft upon their men, and before long a member of my company, in a valuable business view, would be at a discount. This position I have a ways tried to avoid placing any member of my company. 4Hoping that the gentlemen who are at the head of this movement will not think this discourteous or lacking in appreciation, I have the honor to be, respectfully yours,

Captain Southern Cadets.

Mr. Atwater, vice-president of the association, yesterday appointed J. L. Richmond a delegate to Rome, where a branch of the association will be organized, and from which place a large and strong delegation will come to Atlanta next month. Words of encouragement from Athens reached he adquarters of the association yesterday. G. P. Hodgson, an Athenian, will organize a branch in that-city, and from Athens a large delegation will come to the convention.

The Atlanta branch will have a meeting at their rooms in the Gate City Bank building tonight, and every member is requested to be present. The club room committee is working energetically and will present some interesting matters in their report tonight.

Interest in the May convertion is growing and at the meeting tonight a programme will be arranged. The traveling men generally are enthusiastic over the prospect.

The Southern Traveler is working hard to make

"The present is a most timely and fitting interval in which to remind every commercial traveler whose headquarters or field of labors lies within the geographical purview of the south, that his duty is without delay to unite himself with the Southern Travelers' association and to take his place in its ranks.

"It is needless on general theories to set forth the advantages to be thus compassed by both parties to the union, nor to show to the individual alone the personal benefits to himself which are sure to follow this proper step. We assume every intelligent drummer understands both quite as well as we do.

If the merchants refuse or are backward about taking hold, then the society will carry it through by themselves, and in a grand style, too. They do not propose to have it said that they were dependent upon Macon, but will do for Macon, what Macon will not do for herself, if the city does not put her shoulders to the wheel. Macon must go to work in this matter and assist these men in carrying to perfection the project which has done and will continue to do so much good for the city. She died this afternoon at twenty minutes to two o'clock, at the Appleton Church home in this city, of which she has been in charge about twenty years. Recently a number of the orphan children were sick with measles, and Sister Margaret overtaxed her strength in nursing them. She died for the cause for which she had labored so long and faithfully. Bishop Beckwith, before he came to Georgia, knew Sister Margaret in New Orleans, and he told her there that if he succeeded in establishing an orphan home in Georgia, as was his desire and aim, he wished her to come and take charge of it, so when, immediately after his consecration as bishop. Mr. William H. Appleton, of New York, gave him a large sun of money with which to creet the large AppletonChurch Home in Macon, Bishop Beckwith immediately sent for Sieter Margaret, and she has been in charge of the nobie institute ever since, aided by one or two other lady assistants. Sister Margaret was a Miss Jennings. Her care of the many orphans entrusted to her keeping was motherly and tendey. She did her part faithfully and we l, and she has entered into an eternal hhed tance of great joy and happy reward. Her death is deeply mounted, and it will le a heavy loss to the home. Bishop Beckwith's sorrow is very great. sinks at eventide.

Miss Merchant graduated at the high school at the age of sixteen, just four years age. Intellectually she was the peer of any in her class. Being highly educated and thoroughly accomplished, having a lovable disposition and those traits that are characteristic of a pure, noble young womanhood, she was the light of hier househo d, the one ray of sunshine that gladdened the home circle and made happy a large circle of friends.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been made as yet, but due notice will be given later.

The death of Miss Merchant is indeed a sad one. Just blooming into young womanhood she had a bright future before her. MISS POMEROY'S RECITAL AT Y. M.

The Debut of a Brilliant Young Artist-Other News About Atlanta People and Their Friends.

The piano recital given last evening by Miss May Pomeroy assisted by Miss Alexander and Messrs. Sternberg, Blumenfeld and Pappenheimer, at the Y. M. C. A. hall, was a brilliant success in every way. The following programme was given: 1. Gade, noveletts for piano, violin and violincello, Miss May Pomeroy, Messrs. N. Blumenfeld and O. Pannenhimer.

Pappenhimer.
2. Weber, Ocean, Aria from Oberon—Miss May

3. Wieniansky, violin solo, "Legende"-Mr. Natarp Blumenfield.
4. Piano solo, (a) Kernberger, Fuqui in d b, Liszt, concert, etude in D flat; C. Chopin, etude on black keys-Miss May Pomeroy.
5. Violmeello solo, selected-Mr. O. Pappenheimer.
6. Proch, variations for soprano-Miss May Alexander.
7. Piano soli (a) Dreyschok, serenade (b) Dreyschok concert valse-Miss May Pomeroy.
That Miss Pomeroy is a wonderfully gifred young lady must be the opinion of each member of the large audience assembled to hear her first playing in public.
From her first touch in the opening trio, until playing in public.

From her first touch in the opening trio, until the last strains of the brilliant valse, she carried her audience by storm, receiving bursts of applause at each selection. Her technique is remarkable, and the brilliance of her style and renditjon are given with that nicety of detail which characterize the work of Mr. Sternberg's pupils. Though Miss Pomeroy is very young, her success last night Miss Pomeroy is very young, her success last night shows that she cannot be regarded in any sense as an amateur. Her work shows a knowledge and com-prehension of music of which a maestro might be-proud and predicts for her a brilliant future. Miss Alexander delighted her audience, singing

In a faultless manner and receiving enthusiastic applause. Her ability and knowledge is shown-by her selections, since but few pupils reach a point where the Aria from Oberon, in particular, can be given. Her encore after the second song was very pretty.

Mr. Blumenfeld has by his delightful playing made himself well known to Atlanta people, and his appearance is always a signal for great applance. Plause.
His selections were beautiful and delighted his ovation.

Not less delightful was the solo by Mr. Pappenheimer, who is a perfect master of that delightful instrument, the violincello. He was obliged to respond to the enthusiastic applaure more than once, and his selections were more than pleasing.

Mr. Sternberg kindly officiated as accompanyist, but, in spite of the calls, could not be persuaded to shine in any other light.

FAMILY PHYSICIAN—Do you know, there seems to be a natural flavor about this food the most appetizing? What method do you use in cooking it?

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Well, Doctor, when I was at home, my mother would have no other than a Charter Oak Store. From my carliest recollection I remembered how she would praise it, and her cooking was superb. So when we were married I insisted on having the same wind of stove. Of course the improvements made on them since mother bought hers, are made wonderful. Ours has all the latest, including the Wire Gauxe Oven Doors. I don't miderisand the process exactly, but they tell me that all meats cooked in ovens with these doors, retain their juices and flavors to a much greater degree than by any other means. Can you explain the theory, Charles?

CHARLES (the Husband)—I can't remember all that was told me, but I know the Doctor will be a most clear and selemific statement of the reasons, can you not Doctor?

DOCTOR—Well, it is hardly professional to ask such information from a doctor; in fact, of the Charter Oak Stoves. But as I have one in my kitchen, and know something about I I think I can enlighten you. Of course it would take quite a long lecture to explain everything to you scientifically, and we have not time for that. Count Rumford, an American, who was Knighted in Europe for his scientific attainments, pointed out, nearly a hundred years ago, the baking and roasting meats in air-tight ovens was wrong, and he proved it by actual experiments. He asserted that it was as essential to health that our food should be cooked in pure, fresh sin the food cooked therein became tainted and unhealthy. But how to properly ventilate the own was not discovered for many years after Count Rumford's time. The difficulty was to also fresh air to enter the oven uniformly without cooling it perceptibly, and this has been accomplished by Mr. Filley's invention of the Wire Gauze Oven Door. The air enters the same was not discovered for many years after Count Rumford's time. The difficulty was to

The state had introduced all its evidence and the defense had not begun, when Solicitor Hill, realizing that no case had been made out, moved to acquit Mr. Bruffey.

Judge Clark sustained the motion. And the first move by the state toward getfing at the East Point whippers proved to be in the wrong direction. There are still seven indictments against Mr. Bruffey, for the same offense as that charged against him in yesterday's trial, but when he will be tried on these the court has

A number of witnesses were introduced yes terday by the state, including several residents of East Point. Mr. M. M. Folsom, who was with Mr. Bruffey at East Point the night of the whipping, was put upon the stand.

He testified that he had seen the defendant in a buggy in the neighborhood of one of the negroe's houses who was whipped, but stated positively that Mr. Bruffey had not gotten out positively that Mr. Bruffey had not gotten out of the buggy at all. He could not recognize any of the men who were in the crowd that did the whipping, not having approached near enough himself.

This witness was regarded by the state as most important, but his testimony was not as conclusive as had been anticipated, and when he came down, the solicitor, who saw plainly that he had not made out his case, moved that a defendant be given a verdict. After Mr. Bruffey's case was concluded, Mr.

Dan Hall was arraigned on the same charge, Mr. Hall was represented by Mr. Frank A.

Arnold and Mr. John Clay Smith. The defendant's attorneys announced ready, ard were anxious to have Mr. Hall put on trial, and so stated to the court. Solicitor Hill asked that the case of Mr. Dan Hall be continued until Monday week next, to give him time to secure additional Judge Clark remarked that as the solicitor appeared to be very much in earnest in the case, and anxious to do his utmost to bring the guilty parties to justice, he would grant his 1equest, and the case was postponed as requested. The court then adjourned for the morning. At 2 o'clock, when the court met again, Judge Clark dismissed the jurors for the term, the docket being cleared of all ready business.

The Brethren Settle. At the afternoon session Solicitor Hill had several motions to make.

One of them was a motion to noll pross the cases against J. H. Franklin for asault with intent to murder, and Samuel Williams for assault and battery.

The cases against them were the outcome of a little fisticuff in which a handfull of whiskers and an open pocket knife figured conspicuand an open pocket knile figured conspicuously.

"Mr. Wilkins is a Methodist and Mr. Frankin is a Baptist," said Solicitor Hill, in moving to noll pross the case. "They are brethren in their churches, and don't want to figure in open court on that account. They have agreed to settle their little difficulty themselves, and want your honor to let them off with the payment of costs."

Mr. Wilkins, who came out second best in the set-to was in court, and said that he was willing to let the matter rest if the court was.
The charge against him was assault and bat-

The charge against him was assault and bat-

"Well," said Judge Clark, "if the solicitor is willing. I'm willing. I'll let you pay the costs this time."

'All right, your honor," said the solicitor. "All right, your honor," said the solicitor.
"It didn't amount to much, noway, and nobody was much hurt. You see, Brother Franklin has a nice pair of long whiskers. He and Mr. Wilkins had a little misunderstanding, and Mr. Wilkins hunted him up. When the two met, Mr. Wilkins got a grip on Mr.
Franklin's whiskers, and Mr. Franklin responded to the embrace by using a pocket knife on Mr. Wilkin's face. He scratched it up a little bit, but that's all."

A Deal in School Books. Mr. John Govan, the auctioneer who bough the books from the Frenchman employed in the state school commissioner's office, appeared in court, and wanted his case settled.

He was charged with receiving stolen goods, to a value which made the offense a felony. Mr. Govan had bought 812 books from the man, paying him five cents a piece for them. He stated that all the books had been returned to Secretary Orr, from whose office they had been taken.

Detective Ed. Carson, who worked up the case, was present, and confirmed Mr. Govon's statement about the recovery of the books.

In view of Mr. Gavon's long residence in Atlanta and his well known integrity Judge Clark consented to dismiss the case on payment of costs.

ment of costs.

Mr. Govon paid the costs amounting to $40, making his total loss through the transaction $80.00.

When he bought the books he had no idea when he bought the books he had no idea they were stolen, but supposed the man who sold them to him was as he represented, a book agent, and was therefore acting legitimately. The Frenchman who did the thieving is now serving another term on the rock pile.

For next week two important cases head the criminal docket.

Next Monday Harry Frank, the railroad ticket scalper, will be tried on a charge of forgery. Solicitor Hill says the case will consume several days, as considerable evidence is to be introduced.

Sam and Simon Marcus will also be tried for receiving stolen goods, and being implicated in the Delkin robbery.

Herman Vineburg, the boy who stole the jewelry, has already plead guilty. Judge Clark has not yet sentenced him, but is reserving his sentence until the connection of the Marcus brothers with the case is brought out on trial.

Tischman Vineburg, Herman's brother, will also be tried for complicity.

Judge Clark has not yet passed sentence upon the Messrs. Arnold, convicted Thursday of assault and battery.

The Central railroad is preparing now to put a side track near the road's intersection with Gordon street. This improvement has been rendered necessary by the unusual demand for building material and material for paving streets and side-necessary by the unusual demand for building material and material for paving streets and sidewalks.

The street force is putting Ashly street in letter thape than it has ever been. When it is finished sidewalks will be laid on both sides the street, from Gordon street to Green's Ferry avenue. This street runs due north and south, through West End and Atlanta, for more than three miles, and is the longest and straightest street about Ashanta. The county commissioners will likely put it in good condition shortly, when it will be one of the pleasantest drives about the city.

The contract for grading portions of Lawton, Oak and Peeples street has been awarded, and cutizens whose homes for a long while have been almost inaccessible, will be able to go to and frowithout danger to life and limb.

Mr. Malcolm Johnston is making plans for the erection of a new residence on the corner of Feeples and Oak streets. The house now occupying the corner will be removed, and will be replaced with a modern house in which Mr. Johnston will reside. Mr. Johnston resided there several years ago, and will now return to make it his permanent home.

Mr. W. L. Stanton is erecting a new house on Pearl street, and is also improving his old home place on Gordon street.

Mr. J. D. Frazier, on Gordon street, is 'adding another story to his residence. This is one of the handsomest places about the city, and when the present improvements are completed it will be even more attractive than ever.

The demand for real estate in West End is something remarkable. There has been a sure, uninterrupted and steady advance in prices for several years, but prices there are yet lower than in many portions of Atlanta. Investors realize that there is a handsome profit in the present margin, and all property offered at average prices is quickly purchased. The contemplated improvements in the town have something to do with the raipid increase. The West End council has entered into a written contract with the Atlanta Gas Light company to run gas mains along almost every street at once, and the number of sirvet lamps will be immediately trebled. Streets are being now graded and sidewalks and curbing will be speedily laid on all of the leading streets, the people will be placed in easy cotamunication, and all will rejoice together in the conforts of a well-regulated community.

Dr. J. W. Nelms, the new mayor of West End, has become a terror to evil doers. Many gamblers and petty thieves, who had crossed the border to escape the vigilances of the Atlanta police, have been captured and fined, and compelled to move further. He has kept for two or three months a strong street force, made up from a class of evil-doers, who were unable to pay their fines and as a consequence, although street work has been at a trifling expense to the property holders.

CHANGES BEING MADE IN THE VETERANS' HOME.

A Spur Belonging to General Longstreet to Be Placed in the Corner-stone of the Home.

Several important changes are being made at the Confederate Veterans' hall in preparation for Memorial Day, In order to receive the visiting veterans, the rooms will be newly papered, and for this purpose, Mr. J. C. Daniels has donated a handsome paper which he will hang at his own ex-completion, and everything wears a most au-spicious appearance. Yesterday, Judge Cal-haun received the following letter from General Longstreet:

Calhoum, President A-sociation of Confedence Veterans, Alanta, Ga—My Dear Sir: In my search for some relie for the corner-stone of the Confederate Soldiers' home I sind nothing that seems mere suited to the occasion than a pur worn during the war. The pair was made of partof, a junt taken in the of the batteries captured at the first battle of Manassa, made and engraved by the confederate ordinance department. Both were in the first that burned my residence a year ago. The one sent passed through the consuming fiames without great damage while no part of its mate could befound in the detris.

If you esteem it appropriate to the occasion you are more than welcome to it.

could have been more appropriate, especially as it was made of partiof a gun captured at the first tattie of Manassa and worn by you when in command of your corps in the late war. It shall be deposited in the corper-stone of the Confederate Soldiers' Home of Georgia, and will, in after years, be commensorative of a gallant struggle for liberty.

It will be ready by the 25th, the day the Hussars will go to Atlanta to join in the memorial parade. U. S. GRAND JURY.

ADJOURN YESTERDAY AFTER RE TURNING SOME TRUE BILLS.

Juege H. H. Walker, Judge A. A. Manning and Mrs. F. E. Estes in a Pension Case—
The Pickens County Cases.

The United States grand jury adjourned brought out by true bills returned. The jury has been postponing definite action on certain matters for some time, and nvestigated at great length. One of the most important cases is one involving Judge A. A. Manning, of Atlanta; Judge H. H. Walker, of Bolton and Mrs. F. E. Estes, of Atlanta.

Against all three of them a true bill is re-

Against all three of them a vice bill is fo-turned for conspiring to defraud the govern-ment. Mrs. Estes is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins, the latter now dead, the widow of a soldier in the war of 1812.

Through the instrumentality of Judge Walker and Judge Manning, Mrs. Mullins's application for pension was properly filed at Washington, and the pension allowed. Just before the treasury draft for the amount due Mrs. Mullins arrived, Mrs. Mullins died, and the draft went back. Then Mrs. Estes filed a claim for expenses paid in taking care of and burying her mother. A number of affidavits were sent from At lanta, and the claim was allowed-nearly

It is alleged in the bill that these affidavits, upon which the claim was allowed, were tam-pered with after they left the sight of the deponents, and this alteration is the fraud charged in the indictment.

Of the $1,200 Judge Walker got about $100, and Mrs. Estes, who is an ignorant woman There is a second indictment against Judge Walker for charging an exorbitant fee.

There is a similar indictment against Judge There is a third indictment against Judge Manning for opening Mrs. Estes's mail and withholding her money.

It can be shown, it is claimed, that the woman acknowledged the receipt of the en-tire amount, and that all but $18 was redeposited at her own request in Judge Manning's name. This was done because Mrs. Estes's brothers and sisters had demanded a part of the money. Then, at her request again, the money was loaned out by Judge Manning to guard against being garnisheed by her rela-

Afterwards Mr. Estes demanded her money, and because it could not at once be turned over to her, she complained to the authorities in Washington, and thus the whole matter came out.

Judge Manning has not been arrested, nor will he be. He will readily furnish any bond that can be required of him, as nobody that knows him believes there is anything at all knows him believes there is anything at an serious in the case.

It must be remembered that the true bills are returned upon ex-parte evidence—that this is only one side of the case.

Judge Manning is confident that the charges can all be disproved, and is indignant that he was not allowed a hearing before the grand jury.

His own position is given in the following

His own position is given in the following card:

The only connection I had with the Estes case was to take the testimony for her as a notary public. I swore the witnesses to the necessary affidavits, and sent them to H. H. Walker, who was her attorney. There was no fraud in the claim, which will be shown on the trial, as Mrs. Estes is justly entitled to the money. As for charging an exhorbitant fee, I only charged for my notarial work, and only what was reasonable. I was not her attorney, and had nothing to do with the collecting of the claim, which was explained to the district attorney before the matter was brought before the jury. I offered to pay the money into the court and let it remain until the matter could be investigated. I also wished to explain the matter to the grand jury, which I had the right to do, and was refused. The grand jury only investigated one side of the case. If they had looked into the whole case, there would have been no bills found. I will be able to vindicate myself before a jury when the time comes.

How to Grow Beautiful.

She knew it was necessary to become beautiful in order to be considered attractive, and so she made the art of beautifying a study. She felt it wiser to be plump and hearty than to be thin and delicate. To this end she knew good health was essential. She had suffered from backackes, sideaches, and bearing down pains, and was restless until she found the medicine she needed. It improved her appetite and digestion. Her habits became regular. Her flesh increased and became more firm and solid. Her complexion became clear and beautiful and free from pimples. Her lips grew red and her checks grew rosy. She did not know an ache or a pain. Exercise gave her pleasure and she became the life of her companions. She could ride a tricycle for many miles and never seem to grow weary. Her laughter was catching and all the young men loved her. She is now a happy wife and mother. Who was she? What was her name? Well, no matter, let us know the medicine she used. With pleasure, with pleasure, sweet girls. She used Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. If any there be among you who are sickly, go quickly and do likewise.—Mansfield Independent.

Covington and Macon Shops.

The Madisonian, of Madison, says: For some time past the Covington and Macon road atherities have been contemplating the building of car shops to be used for the purpose; of repairing engine; and cars belonging to the road.

Not many days ago the mayor of Madison, Hon. E. W. Butler, addressed a letter to the managers of the Covington and Macon road, in which he offered the company the land upon which to build the shops free, and also to Sampt the buildings to be erected from taxa-ton for a number of years. "And," he added, "Madison will do as much in the way of offering inducements as any other city touched by the road, and more too, if necessary."

the road, and more too, if necessary."

Colonel William A. Broughton, of this city, attended a meeting of the directors of the Covington and Macon road in Macon Monday, and the question of building the shops was discussed freely in the meeting. Colonel Broughton being our representative on the board of directors, is doing all in his power to Induce the company to locate the shops here. He says that Madison stands a splendid chance to secure the shops, and he believes they will be located here.

The offer of the land, and the exemption from taxation is a big inducement, and it is poing to have some weight in the matter.

Railroad Flower Beds.

Railroad Flower Beds.

The Central railroad is entering on a strange mode of getting rid of its surplus funds. At several of their stations they are making things beautiful by laying off large flower gardens. Notably at Midville, they have leveled a large space, and have a force of twenty-one hands with a gravel train, and have had thipped to that point 1,000 rose cuttings, and have gotten the permission of the town council to run the waste water from the lartesian well, from which they propose to build fountains in several parts of the garden. When finished it is bound to look lovely, and will enhance the value of the property of the people in the towns in which their flower gardens are built. Does any one know why this is thus?

In addition to the flower gardens they are going to build a large brick warehouse, sitting toom and cotton yard.

Railroad Jealousy in Birmingham. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 17.—[Special.]
The first move in what promises to be a desperate legal fight between the two largest railroad corporations in the south, was made to road corporations in the south, was made to-day. The Birmingham Mineral railroad, which is owned by the Louisville and Nashville, en-joined the Briarfield, Blocton and Birming-ham road from crossing its tracks at Bessemer. The latter road is a branch of the East Ten-The latter road is a branch of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia system. It is understood that the Louisville and Nashville will make a hard fight to keep the East Tennessee from obtaining an entrance into Birmingham. The injunction obtained today will have the effect of delaying work on the new road for probably many months unless a new route is adopted. The read would have been completed in three months. The Louisville and Nashville Mineral road has almost a monopoly of the coal and fron carrying business of this district. The East Tennessee's new branch parallels the mineral road for forty miles, and would prove a dangerous competition for this immense dangerous competition for this immense

Atkins Tired of the Case.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Abril 18.—[Special.]—Colonel James Atkins has severed his connection with the Tutty case. He had made all his arrangements to go to Washington to bring it before the supreme court, but Tutty's black paramour placed so much reliance on the Brit-ish government and what it was going to do for her, and bothered him so much in that respect that he dropped the case entirely. William Pease, it is understood, has been en-gaged by Tutty and will soon leave for Wash-ington in an effort to bring the case before the highest tribunal in the land.

POLITICS IN AUGUSTA.

Judge Claiborn Snead Will be Induced to Enter the Race.

Augusta, Ga., April 18.—[Special.]—Politics in this county and state senatorial district are being warmed up by the intervies in Wednesday's Constitution, as to who would probably represent Richmond county in the next legislature.

SNEAD WILL RUN.

SNRAD WILL RUN.

I have it from the most reliable source that Judge Claiborne Snead will be a candidate for the legislature, and is backed by the most influential citizens of the city and county.

The readers of The Constitution will remember that Judge Snead led the "ram rackers" in the last contest for senatorial honors in this district, and was gloriously victorious, which shows his great popularity in his city and county. His triumph was unanimously attained by a popular vote of the people of this senatorial district. Judge Snead has many friends among all classes, who will work for his election and are trying daily and hourly to get him to consent to let them use his name as a candidate, and assure him of his election, beyond a doubt, but owing to Judge Snead's large legal practice, he is reticent in giving his consent to serve his people for two years as a legislator, but I have it, without a doubt, that he can and will be induced to run, in which case he will receive an overwhelming majority.

The senatorial vacancy.

an overwhelming majority.

THE SENATORIAL VACANCY.

The alliance and people's candidate from this senatorial district seems to be Dr. J. N. Oliphant, of Wrenns, Jefferson county, it being Jefferson's time to select a state senator. Dr. Oliphant is one of the best men in the state, and his friends say they could not find a better senator, and seem sure of his election.

A PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN.

Eloquence at a Discount, but Wireworking is Active.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., April 18.—[Special.] Milledgeville and Baldwin county are now in the throes of a prohibition campaign. This campaign, unlike all former ones, is noted mostly for wire-pulling and chicanery of the two parties instead of the oratorical fusilades, on which the average wet or dry enthusiast is accustomed to feed his followers from the curb on which the average wet or are entitiasts is accustomed to feed his followers from the eurb stones and corners. Instead of working to secure votes, both sides seem to be figuring on a contest should the election be against them. The antis are working with considerable zeal, in a quiet way, and are boasting openly that they will sweep the county at the polls. The intelligent darkey—always exalted during a prohibition campaign—has hardly felt his importance yet, and, if things don't liven up, the election will pass away without drawing him from the obscurity to which he is usually consigned after he sheds his suffrage at the polls. The prohibitionists think that prohibition will prevail, and are, in consequence, stirred up very little. The county commissioners are all strong prohibitionists, and, should the county go "wet" in the election, they will probably tax liquor out. A prominent and posted progo "wet" in the election, they will probably tax liquor out. A prominent and posted prohibitionist was asked this evening if the county commissioners were empowered with authority to fix the tax to regulate the sale in the city, and he replied: "That is the interpretation they give it. The city's limit of taxation is $500; the county's unlimited. The county commissioners can fix the tax at $10,000 if they choose, and you can say in The Construction that liquor will never again be legally sold in Baldwin county."

READ THIS LETTER. "For years I have been afflicted with bad Digestion, Constipation and Piles. I have tried all the medicines I could get hold of, but all in vain. Even my physicians could not relieve my costiveness. In the meantime I struggled under great pain. Life was a burden. Two weeks ago I saw the Chicago "Times," and my eye fell on an advertisement of Tutt's Pills. I decided to try them. They have worked w.p.derfully. They keep me regular, don't make me sick, give me an appetite and are curing my piles. I am strong and can walk any distance. If I had had these pills five years ago they would have saved me $10.000; but they have saved my life. Let the afflicted everywhere know their value, which is beyond expression."

THE STOCK MARKET.

Central debenture

The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The stock market was only slight'y less active today than yesterday. There were no signs of let up in Missouri Pacific, Rock Island, Union Pacific and Alton fight and Rock Island, Onton Pacine and Annual Rick Island, Onton Pacine and the vidences of long stocks coming out, but principal effect of trouble thus far has been to stifle trading in them and they were all dull today. The ruinous rates established by them are regarded on ruinous rates established by them are regarded on the street as sure to affect their earning, but outside of the four roads engaged in the warfare, the feeling seems to be that higher prices may be looked for. There was more general interest in the market today, and while the sugar and Lackawanna were still most prominent in dealing, there were more market movements in the general list, and special spurts in the Richmond and West point, Chicago gas, New England and Louisville and Nealysille toks hape. The most pronounced po'nt, Chicago gas, New England and Louisville and Nashville took place. The most pronounced movement among specialties was in Hocking coal. The market opened rather heavy on realization, but the buils hefd the prices up and but little pressure was put upon the list. The rise in sugar was not without its influence, but the temper of the whole list was builish. Dulmess again became the feature in the afternoon, but the market finally closed dull and firm, generally at something better than the first prices, and the majority of the list show gains over last evening? figures this evening. The sales reached $137,000 listed and $41,000 unitsted, sugar furnishing $27,000, Lackawanna $18,000. Richmond and West Point $13,000 and Louisville and Nashville $11,000.

sitions being due to the improvement in trade in Manchester. Our cables advise us this improvement is a speculative one, based upon the rise in silver, and the prospect of the passage of the silver bill now before congress. The improvement in the distant positions is due to the buying in Liverpool by spinners who previously hedged in America, but who are deterred through fear of the passage of the Butterworth bill. Were it not for this threatened legislation the winter positions would be well over 10.50, as they should appreciate more nearly to a parity with this crop. Our market advanced slowly in comparison with Liverpool, but closed at about the best prices under the stimulus of the sharp advance in New Orleans. Freign houses are rapidly liquidating their long accounts, and are rapidly liquidating their long accounts, and are the only sellers in the market. Exporters have purchased small lines of low grade cotton during the past two days, and our stock is diminishing under the shipment of some 10,000 bales to Liver-pool. Receipts at New Orleans tomorrow are es-timated at 400 bales. In the Chicago market wheat is rather better than it was last evening, especially for the July option, of which Hutchinson is reported a heavy buyer, but corn and provisions are practically unchanged. Pork we regard as selling entirely upon a manipulated basis, and the best opinions are that it is above its intrinsic value. HUBBARD, PRICE & Co.
